A 3 Billion Stock
Au Revoir Mr. Ludwig
Why a Conspiracy?
Too Much Oil? Hardly

—By Arthur Brisbane—

Copyright, 1928, by Star Co.

LAST SATURDAY, Wall Street employed the two shining hours of business, buying and selling more than one million shares an hour. Business in that neighborhood is really big.

One stock, General Motors, selling at $169 a share, represents a total value of nearly three billion dollars.

We have reached the age of billions. An investment of $60 in General Motors, early in the war, would be worth $5000 now. There is no knowing what heights American values will reach.

The one thing certain is that if you gamble, you will end badly. What about the big men with millions? They don't gamble. They know what they are doing, and let the fools gamble.

Mr. Emil Ludwig returns to Europe, having seen Otto H. Kahn and other parts of America. Someone gave Ludwig this misinformation: "We have little socialism in America because we tell the state that it exists for the people. In Europe they tell the people they exist for the state, and there is much socialism.

We have little socialism here because powerful rich men that really run the country, selecting those for whom the people shall vote, have brains enough to pay liberal wages. Cut wages in two and you'd have here a radicalism that would make Europe's socialism look pale.

Ludwig says he met twenty-five men and three billions of dollars at Kahn's house. He met more billions than that if Kahn invited the right twenty-five, Rockefeller, Baker, Mellon, Ford, Du Pont, etc.

Ludwig will write a life of Lincoln. It will interest all interested in Ludwig, not so much those interested in Lincoln. Until you know thoroughly the America of today and of ninety years ago, you cannot know Lincoln.

Washington discovers a British conspiracy to keep this country from building super-ocean steamships and dominating the world at sea. No need of any conspiracy. Just leave us to our own inefficiency, as proved in our shipping attempts hitherto.

In any case, neither of two conspicuous presidential candidates, Hoover for the Republicans, Al Smith for the Democrats, would eat out of Balfour's hand, as our boy statesmen at the Washington battleship junking conference did. Mr. Hoover proved his quality when he broke down the British rubber monopoly.

Mr. Sinclair, visiting Mr. Fall, formerly in the cabinet, is gloomy about the oil outlook. He fears greater overproduction this year than last.

Other oil people can find comfort in the fact that just now Mr. Sinclair may be slightly prejudiced on oil matters. In any case, there are oil fields belonging to the United States navy that will not be dumped into the overproduction.

Gasoline consumption increased 12.4 per cent last year. California led, using 1,017,000,000 gallons. If every state had, in proportion to population, as many automobiles as California there would be 60,000,000 cars running in America, instead of 24,000,000.

The problem is not too much oil, but how to check waste, that will menace the country later, and find a substitute for gasoline is found.

NORRIS DEMANDS THAT COOLIDGE FIRE MELLON FOR OIL DEAL SILENCE

Washington, March 12 (INS)—The immediate dismissal of Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon from the Cabinet, because of his five-year silence about Sinclair oil bonds, was demanded today by Senator George W. Norris (R.) of Nebraska, insurgent leader, in a speech following an attack on the administration by Senator Robinson of Arkansas, Democratic leader.

Norris declared Mellon's silence about temporary handling $50,000 in bonds, obtained from Sinclair by Will H. Hays, former Republican national chairman, was sufficient cause to require his resignation as a Cabinet member.

BODY OF DROWNED HERO COAST GUARD IS FOUND

The sea today gave up the body of Frank W. Griswold, drowned hero coast guard, as salvage operations on the Boston-New York liner Robert E. Lee were beginning at Manomet and government officials were preparing to launch an investigation of the ship's stranding.

Griswold was one of three Manomet Point coast guards who lost their lives through capsizing of the station's surfboat while returning from the wrecked liner.

His body, which had been sought vainly for two days, washed ashore today at Manomet Bluff, a few

SLAYER COMFORTS KIN AS HE PLANS HIS OWN FUNERAL ON LAST DAY

Mrs. Anna Gleason collapsed in the death house at State Prison today while saying farewell to her son, Herbert T. (Baby Face) Gleason, who must die in the electric chair soon after midnight for a one-night career in crime.

The condemned youth was greatly moved by his mother's grief, but over his own fate was little concerned, for shortly before he had written out the plans for his own funeral and engaged in calisthenics in the death cell.

Mrs. Gleason appeared at the prison soon after 9 o'clock. Her face was white and her eyes were the dull eyes of sorrow. With her was her husband from whom for five years, until tragedy drew them close again, she was separated. Together they went to the death cell.

There they stayed for 45 minutes, with their son, saying the commonplace things that are so often spoken just before a last farewell. Finally the moment came for leaving.

Sobs wracked the mother as she placed her face against the screen of the death cell. "Baby Face" clung to the bars. Their fingers met and then their lips. Mrs. Gleason fell unconscious to the floor.

The death cell guards and her husband, visibly overcome by the scene, carried her outside, where she was revived. Later she was so weak as to be barely able to walk and Warden

SHARKEY WEIGHS IN AT 191 AND RISKO AT 193 1-2

New York, March 12—Jack Sharkey weighed exactly 191 when he appeared this afternoon at the office of the New York Boxing Commission to weigh in for his fight at the Garden tonight with Johnny Risko. The latter, appearing a half hour later, tipped the beam at 193½.

Sharkey appeared to be in splendid condition, several pounds lighter than he was for Dempsey or Heeney.

Immediately after the weighing in Commissioner Muldoon called the boxers aside and caused a sensation by announcing that the commission had taken measures to prevent tonight's battle being marred by holding, such as prevailed at the recent Delaney-Heeney affair.

Commissioner Muldoon's remarks were addressed not only to Sharkey and Risko, but to more than a score of other fighters who are to appear in New York rings tonight.

He said the referees would be instructed to warn all boxers three

GLEASON'S MOTHER FAINTS IN DEATH HOUSE FAREWELL

Hendry sent the mother and father home in a taxicab.

Gleason's sister Anna, 19, and his brother Joseph, 17, spent a half hour saying their last farewells.

The youth, who must march to his death in a few hours, played the part of "big brother" to the end, consoling them in their grief, attempting to stem their tears.

"Be brave," he told them. "Go home now. Don't worry about me."

"Herbert is not afraid to die," Anna said when she left the death house at the conclusion of the last visit.

WRITES FUNERAL PLANS.

Hours only a few hours of life remaining for him, the youth who shot and killed James Monagle of Medford during a store holdup, gave no evidence of "breaking."

Yesterday the youth wrote a farewell "note to the world" given in the care of the prison chaplain, Rev. Michael J. Murphy, for release to the newspapers after his execution.

Today, on a small sheet of paper, he wrote out the plans for his funeral services, after his body has been turned back by the State to his parents. He set down the names of six of his boyhood chums as pallbearers. His solid wheat he wished to be buried. These plans he gave to his father.

Gleason's rosy cheeks, his bright eyes and his youthful mouth which earned him the title of the "Baby Face slayer" were absent on an icy morning today.

"He is the coolest fellow I have ever seen in the death house," said Fr. Murphy after his morning visit to the condemned youth.

GLEASON UNAFRAID.

Gleason's is not the nerve, the cold reserve, the reluctance to display emotion that is the habitual criminal's. His emotions are held taut upon the leash of his courage. He does not want to die, but he knows he must. And seemingly, without bitterness, he approaches the penalty unafraid.

Attorney John W. Connelly's last visit to the youth he defended and touched with pathos—for he went to console and was himself consoled by Gleason.

"I want to thank you, Mr. Connelly, for doing everything you could for me," the condemned slayer told him. "I want to thank Sheriff Fairbairn and the men at the East Cambridge Jail for their kindness, and Warden Hendry and the men here. I have no kick; I have everything I desire.

HARD TO DIE YOUNG.

"Father Murphy told me what to do to make myself right with God and I am not afraid of death after following his instructions. It is hard to die so young, but now that it's all over and you've done everything you could, perhaps it is easier than spending the rest of my life in prison."

Connelly, who became greatly attached to his client, was greatly affected when he left the death cell. He said:

"I saw Herbert for the last time. I found him very grave. He has been a patient boy—that's all I can call him, a boy, for at times, while chatting with him, he doesn't seem over 17 or 18.

"Herbert broke one commandment. The other nine he has kept all his life. 'Love thy father and thy mother' he has followed with greater devotion than the average youth. I never talked with a boy who thought more of his parents. Their separation, when he was 16, was an unfortunate feature.

IN ROLE OF CONSOLER

"He had strong home instincts, shown by the fact he always brought his pay envelope home unopened. He mentioned how odd it seemed that he should be going to the electric chair after having been arrested only once.

"Instead of me consoling, he played the role of consoler."

Considerable mystery was attached to the attempt made by a girl, about 16 or 17, to visit the Jamaica Plain youth before he dies in the electric chair. The girl went alone to the prison and inquired if she might go to the death house to see Gleason. Questioned by prison officers, she declared she was not a relative and that she did not even know him. When denied the privilege, she reluctantly went away.

Gleason spent several hours composing his "farewell message" given into the hands of the priest. Although Fr. Murphy declined to divulge its contents until after the execution, it is understood to be a warning to youth to keep clear of evil companions and hold to the "straight and narrow" path, much after the nature of the article he wrote while in East Cambridge Jail and which was never made public.

Everything at the prison is in readiness for the execution. The witnesses have been summoned, the chair has been tested and the executioner will arrive this afternoon.

Gleason will be put to death a few minutes after midnight.

Slayer Gleason Says: "It's Hard to Die So Young"

Herbert T. Gleason today made his peace with God and announced himself ready to die in the electric chair shortly after midnight. The youthful "baby face slayer" told his attorney, John W. Connelly:

"Fr. Murphy (the prison chaplain) told me what to do to make myself right with God and I am not afraid of death after following his instructions. It is hard to die so young but now that it's all over and you've done everything you could, perhaps it is easier than spending the rest of my life in prison."

Lauded in Hub

REV. DR. EDMUND A. WALSH, S.J.

Prominent Masons, jurists, city county and federal officials joined today in lauding the Rev. Dr. Edmund A. Walsh, S. J., vice-president of Georgetown University and regent of the school of foreign service, at a luncheon given him today by Mayor Nichols at the Ritz-Carlton.

Former Ambassador to Spain Alexander P. Moore, recent purchaser of the Boston Daily Advertiser and New York Mirror, and today nominated as ambassador to Peru, was one of the speakers.

Fr. Walsh, who delivered a stirring oration last night on the Evacuation Day exercises in South Boston, was the guest of the city today.

Others present at the luncheon included Worshipful Master Frank L. Simpson, Masonic leader of Massachusetts; State Deputy John E. Swift of the Knights of Columbus, Chief Justice Walter Perley Hall of Superior Court, Judge James B. Carroll of Supreme Court, Police Supt. Michael H. Crowley, Dist. Atty. William J. Foley ,Judge Michael Murray and Postmaster Roland M. Baker.

NO SYMPATHY IN WIDOW'S HEART FOR SLAYER

"If I were offered all the money in Massachusetts to do something to save Gleason, the murderer of my husband, I would not lift a finger in his behalf.

"I'd rather die poor."

There is no sympathy for Herbert T. Gleason, who dies in the electric chair tonight, in the heart of Mrs. Margaret Monagle, widow of the storekeeper whom Gleason killed.

When she spoke these words today, the slain man's widow was holding in her arms a child 14 months old, a baby boy, born six weeks after his father was murdered.

At her side were three more children, Margaret, three; Bernard, six, and James, ten. Her fifth child, Mary, 16, was busy keeping store at 857A Main st., South Medford, where she saw her father slain in November, 1926.

"Let Gleason go to the chair," said Mrs. Monagle when asked how she felt about the execution due to take place at midnight. "I will do nothing to prevent it.

"Why should I have any sympathy for him? Did he have any for me and my children when he stepped into the little store where my husband was barely making a living for himself and his family and fired two shots into my husband's body and then another at my daughter Mary?

"Let anybody who has any sympathy for him, and who thinks he should not be electrocuted, come to my house now and see me and my five fatherless children. Then they'll probably change their minds.

"As a result of the death of my husband I am forced to work from 6 o'clock in the morning to midnight to support my children. My girl, Mary, was forced to leave school in order to help me do it. Mary tends the store till four, then she comes home to the family, and I tend the store all evening."

Coast Guard Hero Was Mainstay of Mother

After the funeral—what?

In the grief-stricken home at 99 Franklin st., Taunton, they are trying to keep a mother from facing that terrible hour when all that is mortal of Edward P. Stark, hero coast guardsman, lost at Manomet, is laid to rest in his flag-draped coffin Thursday.

"We kept the news from her as long as we could," her other son, Richard, 24, said today. "Her heart is bad and we dread the moment that she must face life without Edward. He was her favorite—the one she cried over when he insisted on joining the coast guard because there was more money in it and he could pay for the home quicker than with the job he had in the merchant marine."

The home—that was what Edward worked for since his father was unable to support the family. A home for his mother in her declining years.

"She always waited for his weekly visits home to have him do any painting or carpentering job about the place," Richard said. "She thought he was safe because we had no word about the wreck of the Robert E. Lee until late Saturday morning. She does not think ahead now —just looks back on the happy times she had with him when he was home from duty."

ONE SISTER A NURSE.

One sister, Mrs. Molly Stark Forrest, is a nurse in Boston, another, Miss Frances, is a school teacher in Providence, while Priscilla, 20, lives at home.

"We depended upon Edward's salary to keep things going at home," the young girl sobbed. "It don't seem possible that he is gone forever."

Wedding plans had already been made by the heroic guardsman to marry Miss Ethel Westgate of Norton after her graduation from Wheaton College in June. He wanted to finish paying off the mortgage on his mother's home before establishing his own home.

When told that a fund had been started for the dependents of the three heroic men who gave their lives rescuing the passengers on the Robert E. Lee, the Starks wept their gratitude.

"Just a week ago today at noon he bid us good-bye, returning to his station," his brother said. "How little we dreamed that we would never see him again."

ANOTHER MOTHER

Frank Griswold of Manomet, another surfman, who lost his life in the tragedy, leaves a mother, two sisters and a brother dependent upon him. His salary was $60 a month and $1 a day for rations. After his funeral—what?

His mother, too, is trying to look back at the happy days instead of forward to the vacant ones without her boy.

And out in East Boston, where Capt. "Bill" Cashman's body lies in blue uniform, the neighbors are coming in to look on the face of the man who told those who would have rescued him first to look out for his men, "Never mind me, get my men first," he called.

"She clung to an oar when they brought him in—his last thought for his men just as his thoughts were always for others when he was at home. We saw him last when he came home to attend the funeral of my twin sister, Josephine, in November. But he always wrote cheerful letters and sent us money to help keep the home up. It is so hard to lose Bill."

Senator John E. Cashman, who is suffering from a nervous breakdown following his sister's death last November, has not been told of the tragedy.

"He could not stand to lose Bill after Josephine so recently," another sister, Mrs. Lillian Jones, said.

hundred yards from where his mates were brought to the beach by rescuers on Saturday.

Reuben E. Burnham, caretaker at a Manomet Bluffs estate, sighted the body on the shore today and notified the Manomet coast guard station.

The body was without lifebelt, oilskins and rubber boots, and it is believed Griswold divested himself of these and attempted to swim ashore.

New York salvaging experts studied the position of the wrecked liner off Manomet today with a view to determining whether the boat can be saved or must be abandoned.

Much of the study was through use of divers, who went down on the outside of the craft as well as into the flooded holds and lower-ship compartments.

If the bottom of the ship is ripped well along her length, as at first feared, it is believed she cannot be salvaged.

Capt. Herman T. Parker, local steamboat inspector, asserted today that an investigation will be held, but that a date will not be assigned for starting hearings until the report of Capt. Harland W. Robinson, commander of the Robert E. Lee, is received.

The liner's captain has 10 days in which to file such a report.

Snow was said to have no magnetic effect upon a compass by Capt. J. A. Kittinger, U. S. N., head of the hydrographic office for the North Atlantic. Capt. Kittinger declared his belief that Capt. Robinson had been misquoted regarding the snow and that the Lee's captain had probably said that snow affected his visibility.

Had the Lee been equipped with sonic depth finders her pilot would have known at all times the approximate depth of water beneath his ship's keel.

TRUCK AND LOAD OF ALCOHOL IS STOLEN

Twenty-one barrels of alcohol, three drums of ether and the five-ton truck on which they rested, were stolen this afternoon from Kneeland st., according to a report made to the police by the driver, Charles F. Ward of White st., East Boston.

Ward told the police that when he returned from the Boston & Albany railroad cashier's office at No. 55 Kneeland st. the truck was gone. He was employed by John J. Bagley of Chester ave., Medford, a truckman.

The load was destined for different concerns at East Elm st., Everett. The load consisted of 19 barrels of denatured alcohol, one barrel of pure alcohol, and one barrel of rum, in addition to the ether. The truck was painted gray, had rack sides and carried Massachusetts number plate "B—31—137."

anonymous, sent his check for that amount to the Boston Evening American.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Nasher of Stoughton, who, with their daughter, Irene, were aboard the stricken ship, contributed $100. Others of the Lee's passengers were expected to follow, as were countless citizens who thrilled to the sacrifice of William H. Cashman, Frank W. Griswold and Edward P. Stark.

None of the heroes was married, but all had families wholly or in part dependant upon their earnings.

The Boston Evening American will be glad to accept contributions to the fund and open its columns to the names of the donors.

WOMEN ONLY PARASITES, SAYS KEYSERLING

Chicago, March 12 (INS)—The man who aspires to be great, to be a genius, to do unusual things, must never marry.

Marriage overwhelmingly defeats all individuality in a man and makes his thoughts serfs to those of his wife, according to the eminent savant, Count Hermann Keyserling, considered by many the greatest thinker in the world today.

Count Keyserling, visitor in Chicago, praised women as rulers, as guiders of the destinies of the world, but bitterly denounced them as parasites of men's intelligence.

"True, I am married, but I married late in life," said Count Keyserling today. "I had an opportunity to think, to give vent to my ideas unhampered by a woman's meager intelligence.

"Has there ever been a great woman thinker—a really great one? No. There have been women rulers, rulers of the world, but only because they attained that position through men.

HIS OWN "ESCAPE"

"Had I married in my youth the result would have been the same in my case as in that of any other man who aspires to the creative life. It would have been disastrous. It would have been a catastrophe.

"If genius is to survive, marriage and the propagation of the race must be left to the average man and woman."

Count Keyserling married the daughter of Germany's Iron Chancellor, Von Bismarck. Of his own married life the great savant was silent.

"During eight hundred years of the world's history," he said, "no man of spirit ever married. He entered a monastery instead. Genius is not born of genius. It is an accident.

"Singleness is far less necessary to a woman than to a man. To unite her life with that of a man is apparently instinctive with women. She Please Turn to Page 10, Column 6.

DRIVER BURNED TO DEATH IN TRUCK BLAST

Ipswich, March 12—A truck driver was burned to death today while fully conscious and while full view of two men who were unable to help him, after his vehicle, loaded with acetylene, skidded, hit a tree and turned turtle on the Hamilton-Ipswich road.

Although not officially identified, the dead man is believed by police to be Arthur DeVeto of Main st., Everett.

His helper, Albert Allendorf, 28, married, of Leslie rd., Belmont, was critically injured, being extricated from the wreckage by rescuers in time to save him from the fate of the other man.

Bound toward Ipswich the truck skidded on a curve a short distance from Cable Memorial Hospital, to which Allendorf was later taken.

The driver was pinned beneath the engine and the back of the driver's seat, unable to move hand or foot. Gasoline exploded and the flames spread to the acetylene in tanks and torches, the fire encircling the trapped man.

The truck had just burst into flames when Daniel Warner and George Asherton of Salem arrived at the scene of the accident. They seized Allendorf and dragged him free, but there was no way to penetrate the wall of fire and grasp the other man, though they could see him plainly and heard his pitiful cries for aid.

"Don't let me burn" were his last words as they turned their backs in horror. The two rescuers said that several tanks exploded while they were removing Allendorf from the wreckage.

PASTOR ON JOB AS DRY CHIEF

Rev. Jonathan S. Lewis today assumed office as federal prohibition administrator of the first district, comprising the whole of New England.

He succeeds Capt. George A. Parker, new registrar of motor vehicles.

There will be no radical changes or reforms in the work of enforcing prohibition from that maintained by his predecessor, the Rev. Mr. Lewis declared.

"I am thoroughly in accord with the policies worked out by Capt. Parker and I shall continue to use them," he said. "But there will be nothing spectacular in my method of administration.

"I intend to make my direction of this office a cold-blooded business man's affair. It will not be conducted on hysterical or theoretical premises.

"Not having had time to survey the facilities at my command, I cannot say what slight changes, if any, I may make, but I feel with the staff at my command I shall be able to carry out Capt. Parker's policies and the law of prohibition as efficiently as lies within my power."

SHOOTS WIFE, MOTHER, SELF

Brattleboro, Vt., March 12 (AP)—Three persons were taken to a hospital here today suffering from bullet wounds inflicted in an affray following a family argument.

Mrs. Gladys Touchette, 18, and her husband, Albert, 25, are expected to die, and Mrs. Margaret Scott Hodgman, mother of Mrs. Touchette, was reported wounded seriously.

Touchette and his wife, who separated two weeks ago, met in the street today. Mrs. Touchette, after a short argument, ran into a store, where her mother was employed, and Touchette followed.

The man, according to the police version first shot his wife and wounded her mother when Mrs. Hodgman attempted to save the girl. Touchette then turned the gun on himself.

FEAR MORE THAN 100 DEAD IN LANDSLIDE

Santos, Brazil, March 12 (INS)—More than 100 persons are believed to have been killed in the landslide from the peak of Monte Serrat. Many bodies were recovered during the morning. It is feared some of the injured will die. Between 200 and 300 wounded are being treated.

FEAR HUB GIRL HELD CAPTIVE

Mrs. Sarah McDonald of Columbus ave., South End today told police that she feared her daughter, Margaret, 17, who has been missing since February 1, was being held captive somewhere in Boston.

Since the girl disappeared from home she has written her mother several times, the last letter arriving today. It bore a Boston postmark. Mrs. McDonald confided her fear that the girl is being held by persons who force her to write the letters in order to avert suspicion.

MOORE NAMED ENVOY TO PERU

Washington, March 12 (INS)—President Coolidge today sent to the Senate for confirmation the nomination of Alexander P. Moore, Pittsburgh, New York and Boston publisher, to be American ambassador to Peru. Mr. Moore formerly was ambassador to Spain, having been appointed by the late President Harding.

He recently became owner of the New York Mirror and Boston Daily Advertiser.

ACE IS LOST IN DIVE INTO SEA

Southampton, Eng., March 12 (AP)—Flight Lieut. S. M. Kindkend, noted British speed pilot, flying at terrific speed today dived into the sea having no trace. He was attempting to break the world speed record.

Lieut. Kindkend, who was a member of the victorious British Schneider cup team last year, was piloting the same type of machine with which Flight Lieut. S. N. Webster won the Schneider trophy with an average of 281.48 miles an hour. His attempt was made in a snow storm.

MAN STABBED; PARTNER HELD

Joseph Digiobanni of Mora st., Dorchester, is in a critical condition at the City Hospital with a gaping wound from his right ear to the shoulder, caused, according to police, by a knife wielded by Dan'l Shindel of Hancock st., West End. Shindel is held on a charge of assault with a dangerous weapon.

The two, according to police, are joint owners of a taxicab one driving at night, the other by day. They had an argument over the division of profits in a garage on Troy st., South End.

Digiobanni witnesses told the police, went to a restaurant nearby to telephone and Shindel entered, pulled open the door of the booth and slashed his partner.

Digiobanni chased Shindel out to the garage and, though blood was streaming from his wound, insisted on fighting. He defeated Shindel and collapsed. Shindel was arrested by Patrolman Gaffney of Lagrange st. station.

Mayor Lodge Declines to Take French Gift for Mrs. Lindbergh

Detroit, March 12 (AP)—Mayor John C. Lodge today declined to accept in behalf of his niece, Mrs. Mrs. Evangeline L. Lindbergh, a gift of tapestries from the industries of Valenciennes, France.

The gift was brought here three weeks ago by Madame Germaine Gosselin, who told the mayor she had been unable to arrange for the present directly with Mrs. Lindbergh.

Mayor Lodge said he could not interfere in the matter.

5490 DEAD OF 'FLU' IN JAPAN

Tokyo, March 12 (AP)—The influenza epidemic which has struck Japan, causing the death of thousands, including the six-months-old Princess Hisa, the daughter of the Emperor, apparently is somewhat decreasing on the basis of figures made public by the metropolitan police.

Deaths now range around 50 a day, including bronchitis and pneumonia, which are attributed to the influenza. Most of the deaths are among infants. Official police figures show influenza deaths from November 1, 1927, to March 9, 1928, at 5490, which is an increase of 500 over the figures for last winter.

American First With Ship Disaster News

FIRST with the news—accurately and interestingly told.

The Boston Evening American scored a remarkable "beat" Saturday when it printed the story of the rescue of the Robert E. Lee's passengers nearly two hours before any other Boston paper appeared on the street with the news. Likewise, this paper's photographs of the stranded liner and actual rescue operations, taken from an airplane, were unmatched.

And there were other notable journalistic scoops during the week. On Friday, for instance, the story of Ruth Elder's flight over Boston by a reporter WHO FLEW WITH HER.

On Wednesday an hour's beat on the closing of the A. Di Pietro & Co. bank in the North End.

On the same day Velma West's first person story, told shortly after she had been sentenced to life imprisonment for the slaying of her husband.

On Tuesday the first news that thousands of auto licenses would probably be void due to the ousting of Goodwin, a prophecy later borne out by ruling of Registrar Parker.

And so on, almost without end.

SOMERVILLE SUSPECT HELD IN BRIDGEPORT

Bridgeport, Ct., March 12 (AP)—Frank A. Funcke, 45, of Somerville, Mass., said to be wanted in Massachusetts as a fugitive from an asylum, was held for a hearing March 14 by the City Court today on a technical charge of breach of the peace.

He had been charged with attempting to pass a worthless check at a local bank. When it was claimed that Funcke had funds in Massachusetts to meet the check the complaint was altered.

NO RAISE FOR GOVERNOR AND "LIEUT."; BILL DIES

An adverse report on the bill of Representative George P. Anderson of Boston to raise the salary of the Governor fromnb $10,000 to $25,000 and the Lieutenant-Governor's compensation from $4,000 to $10,000 was made today by the legislative Committee on public service.

DREDGE FOR $100,000 IN GOLD IN HUDSON RIVER

New York, March 12 (INS)—The Hudson River off West 57th st. will be dredged for gold today. After working hours in the chill water, divers recovered one of the kegs containing $100,000 which went overboard while the Italian liner Roma was being loaded Friday. One keg, crammed with 2200 $20 gold pieces, has not been found. A huge dredge was requisitioned for today.

ESCAPED MAINE CONVICT IS ARRESTED IN ALBANY

Portland, Me., March 12 (AP)—Arrangements will be made to have Officer Daniel J. Carr view George Ethier, fugitive from the Maine state prison, now under arrest in Albany, N. Y., when he is brought back to this state. After Carr had been shot and seriously wounded by a man on July 27, he identified a picture of Ethier as the assailant.

MUST AID FIRST WIFE'S TOTS

Charles V. Mallett of Lynn, who was arrested on the day of his second marriage for non-support of the three children of his first marriage, was found guilty today and ordered to pay $10 weekly for their support.

He was given a two-months' sentence in the House of Correction by Judge Reeve in Lynn District Court, but this was suspended for as long as he contributes the weekly payments.

Mallett's second honeymoon began as soon as the court session was over. He explained that he has a position awaiting him in St. Louis and for this reason he was permitted by the probation officer to leave the state.

His bride is Mrs. Marie P. Pettingill, widow of a soldier who died during the World War. Mallett was arrested on complaint of his first wife, Mrs. Nellie Mallett, who divorced him several years ago. She told her story today in whispered tones to Judge Reeve while Mrs. Mallett No. 2 stood nearby.

12 NEW CRIMES IN HUB TODAY

Twelve new crimes showed up in the police report today for the period of the past 48 hours, augmenting two week-end holdups, several cases of petty thievery and a number of pickpocketing and bag snatching cases previously reported.

The dozen new flights in the face of Police Supt. Crowley's warning to his policemen to be more alert, included two downtown pickpocket thefts, totaling $84; six cases that were probably pickpocket; two sneak thief jobs; one apartment burglary, and an attack on an eight-year-old girl in Franklin Park.

There were also five automobiles stolen in Boston during the 48-hour period.

George Crompton Is Dead

Lawrence, March 12 (AP)—George Crompton, head of the Crompton Machine Company and one of the pioneer manufacturers of this city, died today. During the war with Spain he was located in Lynn, where he supervised the manufacture of munitions.

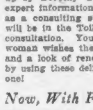
Here you learn all about period furniture, so necessary when you furnish your home and about oriental and domestic rugs. For further information on this interesting school call Kenmore 2334.



What a Shame

It is that Alice doesn't take care of the superfluous hair on her face. It's really her own fault that she has so much of it. She pulls the hairs herself and the tiny cell at the root of the hair breaks and scatters and makes a number of hairs where one was before. I wish you would tell her about Miss E. Sparkes, at 170 Tremont St., who will remove scientifically all the superfluous hair on her face. Miss Sparkes also has a machine used especially for the treatment of your legs, and with flesh colored stockings so popular, it is a marvelous invention. She is and have Alice visit her so that she may correct that blemish which spoils her so.

OIL CORRUPTION SICKENING, SAYS ROBINSON

"Mr. Coolidge," said Norris, "ought to have requested Mr. Mellon to resign as soon as he knew that Mr. Mellon had remained silent for nearly five years about Sinclair's bonds.

"It was Mr. Mellon's duty as a public officer of the Government to come forward and reveal that bond transaction with Hays."

The Republican party, "with the methods of crooks," betrayed the Government of the United States in return for huge contributions from Sinclair's Continental Trading Company's $3,000,000 Liberty Bond "slush fund," Senator Robinson charged.

"TREACHERY TO NATION"

He declared that the Republicans, even if they returned every dollar to Sinclair, could not redeem their party for "what it took from him as the price of treachery to the nation."

He described the revelations as "disclosures of peculiarly disgusting and revolting corruption."

"He also declared the Republicans, if they desire to reform their party, "might hasten to restore their contributions," aside from those made by Sinclair.

It was the now famous memorandum, written by the late John T. Pratt, New York financier and official, before his death, that provoked today's attacks.

Pratt noted having received $50,000 in Sinclair bonds in return for which he sent Fred W. Upham of Chicago, then Republican national treasurer, a check for $50,000. In the corner of the memorandum were the names, "Weeks, Andy, Butler, Du Pont."

HINTS "PERJURY" CHARGE

Robinson demanded to know how Hays expected to "restore himself in the public confidence and respect or relieve the party he represents from the odium of having sold itself to the despoilers of the nation."

He recounted the long story of Hays' handling of Sinclair bonds, as Hays himself told it on the witness stand. Hays had as his part $60,000 of Sinclair bonds to Upham, $25,000 to former Secretary of War Jolly W. Weeks and $50,000 to Pratt, but said nothing about Mellon or Butler.

Robinson referred to these Sinclair gifts as coming "from the chief beneficiary in the fraudulent transactions by which the naval oil reserves were bartered away."

He added that Hays "proceeded by methods common to crooks, with efforts to exchange the bonds with prominent Republicans for cash."

"Such records as were kept warrant the conviction that the whole transaction was corrupt," Robinson charged.

The testimony of Mr. Hays before the committee in 1924 warrants a conclusion that he deliberately concealed the fact from Albert B. Fall, chairman, of the bonds obtained from Sinclair, and to that extent submitted himself to the possible charge of perjury."

Butler Identifies Mellon and Self on List of Names

"I don't know what those names were there for."

This was the statement made today by ex-Senator William M. Butler in his Boston office regarding disclosure of his own name and those of other prominent Republicans in a memorandum listed with Harry B. Sinclair and Teapot Dome.

Chairman Butler said:

"'Andy,' I suppose that means Mellon. Du Pont, well that's clear. Weeks was Secretary of War and former Massachusetts Senator. Butler, that's myself. But I don't know what the names were for. I know nothing of this matter nor of the $360,000 Liberty bonds."

Reed Points Way to Prison for Oil Plot Dodgers

St. Louis, March 12 (INS)—"If federal authorities would apply the conspiracy statute to the prosecution of guilty persons in this oil mess, as they do in the cases of smaller criminals, what would the harvest be!" asked United States Senator James A. Reed today.

"The federal conspiracy statute may be invoked in the prosecution of any crime. They sent many men to Leavenworth penitentiary in the Jack Daniel liquor case who were not principals in the case until the board and inclusive conspiracy statute made them so."

NICHOLS WANTS $500,000 MORE

Mayor Nichols went up $500,000 today in his demands on the City Council for street and sewer appropriations.

He now asks $2,500,000 in loan orders for these two purposes and in today's message to the Council he once more stressed the desirability of extensive public work of this sort to relieve unemployment.

His additional loan order calls for $500,000 for widening Arlington st. to Arlington (formerly Castle) sq. Previously this project was included in the original $1,000,000 loan order for street improvements. Now the Mayor wants the whole $1,000,000 for residential streets and an extra half-million for Arlington st.

PLAN TO WELCOME POLAR PLANE ON TEST FLIGHT

St. Albans, Vt., March 12 (AP)—In response to a request from Floyd Bennett, who is to be a member of the Byrd Antarctic expedition, Pres. S. M. Driscoll of the St. Albans Chamber of Commerce today surveyed the ice and snow conditions at St. Albans Bay in Lake Champlain. He said he found the ice smooth and safe, capped by four inches of snow, and he believed the conditions ideal for the projected test flights of the expedition's Bellanca plane.

Bennett telephoned Driscoll if conditions were favorable he would consider bringing the plane here tomorrow. There will be a municipal welcome.

Tonight

THOUSANDS of people in fine hotels will be served an exquisite coffee La Touraine. The cost may be 75 cents per pot, but no one will regret it.

Many men and women will wonder why they do not get such coffee at home. Some will ask the waiter and learn how. They will find that the coffee is La Touraine and that every grocer has it.

Tomorrow

THAT same coffee will greet men in more New England homes than any other coffee. It will start their days with a joy. The cost will be less than two cents per cup, but they will find nowhere, at any price, a more delightful blend.

Wise wives are they who start their husbands' days in that way. The great difficulty in home life is to create good cheer in the morning.

Why La Touraine Coffee Won

The best experts on coffee are in fine hotels. Coffee is a specialty there. They know that the finest cuisine is ruined if the coffee fails to please.

So fine hotels make comparisons. They employ expert tasters to pick out for them the utmost in coffee flavor.

That is why W. S. Quinby started by seeking to please hotels. That was the supreme test. First he won E. M. Statler, who has done so much to improve hotels. To this day, every Statler Hotel is serving La Touraine.

Then other fine hotels awoke to this exquisite blend. Then famous coffee and tea rooms adopted it. Then extra-fare trains.

Men and women by the tens of thousands gained a new idea of coffee. Then we told them the blend is La Touraine. We placed it in their grocery stores. As the demand grew, we reduced the price.

Now it costs no more than other high-grade coffees.

Today this La Touraine is the largest-selling coffee in New England, the birthplace of fine coffees. That fact marks it the finest coffee yet created. Do you know a reason why your home should not have it?

Buy La Touraine Coffee in the Bean and have your grocer grind it fresh for you.

For percolator have it ground as fine as coarse granulated sugar.

How To Get A New HAT

This wise young woman will buy a new hat today because she knew how to make use of Ketchup as a help to her powers of persuasion.

For breakfast, she set down before her husband a plate of bacon and eggs and Blue Label Ketchup. Crunchy toast, too, and rich, steaming coffee. But the Blue Label was the best touch.

Fresh country eggs and curly, crisp bacon, and a serving of Blue Label Ketchup on the plate 'longside. No wonder he "came across" so promptly when she asked for a little extra allowance.

She knows Blue Label Ketchup is as rich in vitamins as a glass of orange juice—that its tomato content is as alkaline-forming as any fruit—that Blue Label Ketchup tastes good, and is decidedly health-building.

Wouldn't You Do It This Way?

If you had to decide on which ketchup out of all those sold by grocers was really the best—

Wouldn't it be sensible to take all the leading brands and try them at one time?

The famous "blindfold jury" tested ketchups this way and overwhelmingly voted Blue Label first.

Try a Few of These

Blue Label Ketchup is especially good with eggs.

Chicken liver omelette, eggs baked with sausage, ham and eggs—try serving these with Blue Label Ketchup.

For poached eggs on toast, serve a dash of Blue Label on the toast. Blue Label goes wonderfully in the dish with baked or shirred eggs. And there's nothing better than a ketchup omelette, made with Blue Label. It's even better than Spanish omelette.

Wakes up the appetite!

MARTHA LEE SHOWS YOU HOW TO MAKE A DELICIOUS CHEESE RECIPE

1—First I take ¼ c. whole wheat cereal and cook it in 1 c. milk for 5 minutes.

3—Then I add 1 tbsp. butter, the yolks of 2 eggs, 1-2 tsp. mustard, salt to taste, cayenne pepper to taste.

2—And ¼ c. grated cheese. Then I fold in carefully the well-beaten whites of 2 eggs.

4—Finally I pour this into a greased baking dish and bake in a quick oven for 20 minutes.

Foods Rich in Iron

MODERN mothers realize that it is just as important to have a strong framework for the body as for a building, and are careful to give their growing boys and girls foods rich in iron and minerals. It is iron, phosphorus and calcium that builds strong bones and nerves, red blood and fine white teeth.

Eggs yolks, molasses, beans, whole wheat, spinach, brown bread, dates, prunes, raisins, tapioca, cocoa, dried apples, potatoes, macaroni—all these foods are rich in needed elements. Whole wheat is especially rich in the minerals that build up sturdy frames. Serve a whole wheat cereal with milk—a food rich in bone-building calcium—and you have a balance of minerals that is hard to beat for growing girls and boys.

Illustrated above you'll find a recipe combining this whole wheat cereal with other wholesome foods. It is called Wheat Souffle, and is made thusly:

Wheat Souffle—Take ¼ c. of whole wheat cereal and cook it in 1 c. of milk for 5 minutes. Then add 1 tbsp. of butter, the yolk of 2 eggs, 1-4 tsp. of mustard, salt and cayenne pepper to taste. Then add ¼ c. of grated cheese and fold in carefully the well beaten whites of 2 eggs. Pour this into a greased baking dish and bake in a quick oven for 20 minutes.

Measles in London

London, March 12—London is facing the most serious outbreak of measles in recent years. For the five weeks ending March 3, 603 deaths were recorded, nearly all of young children.

Brakeman's Contest Closes Tomorrow

By THE BRAKEMAN PUZZLE EDITOR

JUST heard from Brakeman Bill who's seated out in the baggage room of the Melrose B. & M. station figuring how far and how fast he traveled over the top of that freight. Bill sent a courier in with a message and I'll let you read it:

"Am nearing solution of problem and will end my mental gymnastics Tuesday night, whether I have the right answer or not."

That being the case, it behooves the Brakeman Bill Editor to place a time on the puzzle contestants. No answers postmarked after Tuesday night, when Bill ends his deductions, will be considered by this editor in the award of the flat wheel and hot box which constitute first and second prizes.

The correct solution of the puzzle will be printed in Saturday's editions of the Boston Evening American whether Bill has got the right answer or not. Then you can check up and see how close you came.

In today's 739,642 letters containing answers is one epic sent in jointly by Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Holway, of 43 Frederick st., Framingham. They write:

"Bill traveled six miles at the rate of 20 miles an hour—six miles because he walked the length of the train which only went five miles for it was one mile long and covered that distance before it started—at the rate of 20 miles an hour because he traveled at the same speed as the train and traveled six miles in the same time that same time that the train covered five miles. Are we correct in our estimate?

"We arrived at the above solution after much argument so hope we are right, now."

To which this greatly overburdened puzzle person is moved to give the following answer:

"Dear Mr. and Mrs. Holway:

Start the argument over again. Gong!"

Chester Hobart of Milltown, Me., writes in that Bill traveled six miles at 24 miles an hour AND THEN: "Try this one," he says, and and proceeds to give me what he thinks is a stunner in the way of mental arithmatic involving the investment of several grand by A, B, C and D and the price of brown derby hats.

Chester, I get the scent of moth balls from that one and strongly suspect you've been poking around the attic. Is that where you dug up the answer to Bill's great problem?

Got so many letters I'm having a tough job noting down all the addresses of the girls who have written in. In the future you girls would save me a lot of bother if you'd signify blonde or brunette with your answers and write the phone numbers legibly in pen and ink. If any change from last year print said change in space afforded on blank.

Remember, only till Tuesday night to mail your answer on Bill's brain twister. And watch for the right answer Saturday.

Address your answers to the Brakeman Puzzle Editor, Boston Evening American, 5 Winthrop sq., Boston.

Lesson in Cookery

A FEATURE of today's lesson in the Martha Lee School of Practical Cookery is a cake demonstration by Miss Marie L. Casteen, dietitian of the Hotel Statler and in charge of the Statler experimental kitchen.

Miss Casteen is a graduate of Illinois Western University and Columbia, where she specialized in foods. The purpose of the Statler experimental kitchen is to provide uniform recipes for use throughout the Statler chain, and to test recipes suitable for developing on the Statler menus.

Miss Casteen supervises the work of the assistants who prepare the delicious cakes, cookies, desserts, nut-breads and hot biscuits that are baked during the meal hour in the Statler home kitchen, and are also on sale in the Statler sweet shop.

Miss Casteen's demonstration in the Martha Lee Kitchen shows the many varieties of cakes that can be made from a single reliable foundation recipe.

FOUR HELD IN $750,000 LYNN LEATHER THEFT

The four men arrested in connection with the $750,000 leather robbery from the Benz Kid Company of Lynn, in district court today waived examination on various charges and were held for the Grand Jury by Judge Ralph W. Reave.

Thomas A. Kelly, Verona st., Lynn, charged with larceny and conspiracy, was held in $5000. Gardner Martin, Cromwell st., Marblehead, charged with receiving stolen property and conspiracy, was held in $7000. Charles E. Morgan, Lawton av., Lynn, charged with conspiracy was held in $1000, and Ernest Owens, Lynnfield st., Lynn, charged with receiving stolen property and conspiracy, was held in $3000.

ARRESTS NEAR IN DEATHS OF TWO MICHIGAN BOYS

Michigan City, Ind., March 12 (INS)—Arrests in connection with the strange deaths of Richard Bohle, four, and his baby brother, Orvilla, were reported imminent by Michigan City authorities today. The investigation was quickened by a report from a Chicago chemist, stating that traces of cyanic acid had been found in the body of Richard. Physicians are fighting to save the life of William Sims, an uncle of the dead boys. He was stricken with the same mysterious illness.

Mrs. Sims admitted she had used oxalic acid to remove stains from clothing, a doctor states.

LEADERS AT FUNERAL OF RODMAN WANAMAKER

Philadelphia, March 12 (AP)—Eminent citizens, political leaders and men and women prominent in business and professional circles gathered here today to pay their last respects to Rodman Wanamaker.

The arrangements for the services called for the utmost simplicity, with only the recitation by the Rev. Frank L. Vernon of the Episcopal ritual for the burial of the dead. Mr. Wanamaker is to be laid to rest beside his father and mother in the cemetery of St. James the Less.

The active pallbearers are Barclay H. Warburton and Norman J. MacLeod, brothers-in-law of Mr. Wanamaker; Hector Munn, a son-in-law; William L. Nevin, vice-president of the Wanamaker department stores; Joseph L. Williams and Alfred G. Clay, of the Wanamaker store in this city, and Grover Whalen and John W. Appel, of the New York store.

CAMILLA HORN IN ROLE WITH NOVARRO

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

Los Angeles, March 12—Camilla Horn, the girl with the complicated German accent, seems to draw parts that put her opposite filmland's most desirable leading men. She has now moved to the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer lot, where she will lend feminine interest to Ramon Novarro's next picture.

Just a word about this Ramon Novarro opus. Some time ago, you remember, he starred in "A Certain Young Man." It did not meet with the approval of Louis B. Mayer and other powers that be at M.-G.-M. In other words, it was not up to the standard they expected of Novarro's pictures. So it was put away on a shelf and forgotten.

Now the story has been dragged from its hiding place and Robert Leonard has been appointed first surgeon to fix it up in shape. Bob Leonard, who has in the last few years become one of the best comedy directors in the country, will brighten up the dark corners with a little humor and give the picture a new twist. The story is there, and with old Doc Leonard it should come out a different film.

Mighty good films have come from bad beginnings.

Dolores Del Rio's next assignment shouldn't be so hard to take. She left with Edwin Carewe Sunday on his yacht Lipey from the Los Angeles harbor, bound for Mexico.

Mr. Carewe, who is just out of the hospital, chartered a yacht for two reasons: One to give himself a needed vacation, the other to get some shots of Mexico for "Revenge." Miss Del Rio's next picture for United Artists. The party will make exteriors in a little fishing village, Cuantzemotzin. Don't try to pronounce it, because you can't. Anyway, it's on the coast of Mexico, where fishing is said to be good, also the scenery.

This will be the first time Dolores Del Rio has set foot on her native soil since Edwin Carewe discovered her as a girl with screen possibilities and brought her to Los Angeles. Needless to remark on her meteoric rise to stardom. You all know it. Who doesn't?

You will admit "State Street Sadie" is a grand title. It's euphonious and promising. Warner Brothers are about to give it to the world in a melodrama booked as a sequel to "The Girl from Chicago." Of course, State st. would mean Chicago, wouldn't it?

Myra Loy will be Sadie and Archie Mayo is booked to direct her. I suspect Warners of finding the title and writing the story afterward. It's done in the best of studios, my dear, the very best of them.

A coterie of film people are about to produce a select play called "Rhapsody" at the Beaux Arts Theater. This little theater seats 550, and is patterned after a playhouse in New York, where only the gems of art are known.

Ramon Romeo, the author, is planning an invitational first night that will boast such guests as Eugene O'Neill. At least, Mr. O'Neill has signified his intention of looking at Mr. Romeo's play. He will be here at that time.

AIKEN DEVOTED TO KING HORSE, SAYS BETTY ALDEN

Colonists in Smart Winter Resort Go in for Riding, Polo and Coaching

AIKEN, S. C., MARCH 11—HOW delightful is Aiken, in this day and age of motorization and mechanicalization. For Aiken, lying detached and aloof in its South Carolina hills, is devoted heart and soul to the horse. To hunting. To polo. And to riding for hours and hours through those fragrant pine woods where only the faintest echo of the motor horn may penetrate. Heart and soul is the Aiken colony for King Horse and the sports in which he is supreme.

IN TRUTH, THE PARAMOUNT purpose of Aiken's roads is to provide soft, safe footing for equine favorites. Not to invite, by their smoothness and hardness, the speedy motor. The major portion of transportation is by "buggy." A one seater or a two seater, hitched to a slow footed nag and driven by a small and sagacious darkey. And then there are high and shining coaches, tooled expertly and drawn by swanking teams. And, constantly and everywhere, the saddle horses.

WHEN POLO IS GOING ON, on one of the five fine polo fields Aiken possesses; or when the Aiken hunt is out, then one sees all these equine methods of transportation in their ancient glory. For Aiken is supremely, eggerly, exclusively "horsey." It's a very smart, very exclusive very in formal leisured set, the one whose late winter and early spring paths fortunately converge on this unpretentious town. And perhaps its most famous personage is Mrs. "Tom" Hitchcock, master of fox hounds for the Aiken hunt. All day and every day in the saddle is Mrs. Hitchcock.

Mrs. Thomas Hitchcock Mrs. Cornelius Whitney

AIKEN COLONY LEADERS

Mrs. Hitchcock is master of the Aiken hunt and perhaps Aiken's foremost personality. Young Mrs. Whitney very happily represents Aiken's very smart younger set.

IN AIKEN IT IS THE THING TO follow the runs of the hounds. On those days when the hounds are racing over hill and meadow with the horses hard ahead, everyone not hunting comes out to see the start. And on polo afternoons they come for miles around. And well they may, for polo as played in Aiken is the acme of spirited sport. Boston's very special interest is of course in the presence of its famous veteran player, W. Cameron Forbes, erstwhile governor-general of the Philippines and continuously a polo enthusiast, playing himself and maintaining an enormous stable.

ON HARRIMAN FIELD A round robin of six periods had for "Blues" W. Cameron Forbes, George Herbert Bostwick, Leigh Blair and Milton McCoy. For the "Yellows" Regan McKinney, Col. K. R. Marshall, Prentiss Coonley, Fred H. Post, and alternate, Howell H. Howard. The "Reds" were R. A. Laidlaw, Lyman Wright, Seymour Knox, Maj. H. B. McDougall and Edwin Warfield, as alternate. And all Aiken and all the other smart resorts for miles around were finely represented.

YESTERDAY THEY CAME mounted on fine saddle horses, or by the ubiquitous "buggy," in charge of a youthful and most self-important small darkey, these society folk who adore Aiken's informality after a rigorous town season or Palm Beach's never-ceasing round. Some of the gallery came by dashing coach and "four." And some, a comparative few, came by motor from Augusta—by motor, since the twenty or so miles stretching between these two noiable resorts are more conducive to automobile transportation than the four-footed sort.

ALTOGETHER, IT WAS AN interesting gallery gathered about Harriman field in the mellow afternoon sunshine. Some of Boston's best is wintering at Aiken. And many of Philadelphia's and New York's most toplofty ones put in the season here. Tropical seas and Florida sunshine have their charms, certainly. But, after all, there's only one Aiken, distinctly unique in the fashionable scheme, and vastly different from each and every other winter colony up and down the sunshine trail.

MR. AND MRS. FREDERIC CAMERON CHURCH are in Aiken. And, like all Aikenites, the former Miss Vanderbilt and her good-looking spouse, are strictly within the Aiken sartorial picture with their tweeds and warm fleecy topcoats. For, in Aiken, to be in the sartorial picture is to be in the severest, most practicable of sports and out of doors things. Riding clothes and sports clothes put on in the morning for breakfast are perfectly proper for tea, and even the informal dinner.

300 PROTEST NARROW GAUGE TRAIN CUT

More than 300 residents of Winthrop and Revere today appeared at the State House in vigorous protest against the discontinuance of early morning trains on the Boston, Revere Beach & Lynn railroad.

The room selected by the Public Utilities Commission for a hearing on two petitions of protest was too small and the hearing was transferred to the largest committee room in the capital building.

Before the hearing the petitioners won a partial victory. Atty. Samuel Hoar, representing the railroad, announced the company had decided not to discontinue the 4:24 a. m. train. The road does intend to discontinue, on March 15 the 1:35, 2:35 and 3:35 a. m. trains.

"This works a serious hardship on late workers, newspaper workers and others," said Henry J. Barry, Winthrop selectman. "There are 16,000 permanent residents of Winthrop and many thousands of Summer visitors who may be affected. They have had all-night service for 20 years."

Barry led the fight for one petition, presented by the Winthrop selectmen and residents of that town, while the second petition was presented by Representatives Conde J. Brodbine and Augustin Ariola of Revere.

U. S. GIRL TAKES HINDU FAITH TOMORROW

London, March 12 (AP)—Amid the shrines and temples of the ancient holy city of Nasik, India, an American girl tomorrow will become a Hindu so that she may wed a former Maharajah.

The "shuddi" or purification ceremony which Miss Nancy Ann Miller of Seattle, Wash., will undergo for her conversion from Christianity will be followed by a journey to Darya Mahal, near Barwaha, where on Saturday she will become the third wife of Tukoji Rao, former Maharajah of Indore.

The religious ritual will be at sunrise at Gangapur on the banks of the Godavery, five miles from Nasik. Generally if there is no sun there is no ceremony.

In the evening there will be a general ceremony at Nasik. A dispatch to the Daily Mail from Bombay today said that Miss Miller might make a speech as part of this. If she does so an oration by a Hindu priest will follow.

While plans for the conversion continued controversy over it raged hotly among Hindus. The Orthodox Brahmins contend that it is an absolute farce, since only those born Hindus can hold the Hindu faith.

"Votes for Flappers" Bill Is Presented Before Commons

London, March 12 (AP)—An event which the younger section of British feminity has been awaiting with the greatest interest occurred today.

Sir William Joynson-Hicks, the home secretary, introduced in the House of Commons the equal franchise measure familiarly known as the "votes for flappers" bill. This gives the vote to women at the age of 21 years, instead of 30 as at present.

The bill, which is expected will enfranchise more than 5,000,000 women, was formally read for the first time, and will probably be debated before Easter on motion for second reading.

5 HELD IN THEFT OF 56,000 RAZOR BLADES

Five men, arrested in connection with the larceny of 56,000 razor blades, valued at $6800, the property of Joseph P. Manning & Co., 500 Atlantic ave., were arraigned in municipal court today. John H. Maguire, Indiana st., Somerville; Henry Denehy, Princeton st., East Boston, and Charles Rumney, Broadway, Somerville, were charged with the larceny.

Edward Levin, proprietor of the Triangle cigar store on Bedford st., and John F. Lane, a clerk in City Hall, were charged with receiving stolen property. The cases were continued to March 16.

LONGFELLOW'S VISITOR HURT ACCIDENTALLY

Brighton police today declared they are convinced that Thomas E. Flowers, 19, of Huron ave., Cambridge, found unconscious in an alley off Bellevista rd., Brighton, was accidentally injured.

The youth, son of Lieut. Flowers of the Metropolitan Park police, and a bond salesman for Lee, Higginson & Co., was found lying beneath the window of the apartment of Henry Wadsworth Longellow, of the same family as the poet.

Longellow told the police that Flowers, whom he had met while trading at the Lee, Higginson office, appeared at his apartment early Sunday morning with another man and invited Longellow to join them on a party. Longellow the police say, declined the invitation, whereupon Flowers and his companion departed.

Flowers was found after nightfall, and it is believed he fell while attempting to enter Longfelow's apartment from the roof. The young man was removed to St. Elizabeth's Hospital with a possible fractured skull and contusions and abrasions. His name was placed on the danger list.

Longellow told the police he was away during the day, returning home early last night. Footprints found in the snow on the roof of the apartment house led the police to believe that Flowers had returned during the afternoon and, finding Longfel. w away, attempted to enter through a window from the roof.

U. S. ASKS EARLY RULING ON POWER OVER UNIONS

Washington, March 12 (INS)—The Supreme Court was asked today to make an early determination of the scope of the government's power to enjoin labor unions under the Sherman anti-trust act. A petition for advancement of the case on the calendar was filed by the Department of Justice in the appeal of the Journeymen Stone Cutters' Association of North America.

Solicitor-General William D. Mitchell said the questions involved "will govern the Department of Justice in the future administration of the anti-trust laws." The appeal involves the question of the liability of a national union for the act of its officers and the liability of the national union for actions of local unions.

"It has been in this house fifty years. You can't find another piece like it. This, ladies and gentlemen, is genuine! What am I offered for it? These old treasures are going for a song. Give me a bid."

WHILE presenting our Annual Statement showing Assets of $2,388,647,636—2 Billion, 388 Million Dollars—representing savings and investments of 25 million people in the United States and Canada, the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company desires to make clear what a life insurance company can do, what it should do and what, so far, it has been unable to do toward meeting what have been called the five great hazards of life:

Death
which may come early, before one's dependents have been provided for.

Accident
always sudden and often causing lessened earning power.

Sickness
which may cause want as well as suffering.

Dependent Old Age
which must seek charity if self-support is no longer possible.

Unemployment
which may bring distress to others in addition to the one unemployed.

Annuities for old age, protection in case of death, accident or sickness—almost every financial requirement can now be met by insurance. Only one problem is still unsolved—unemployment insurance—and that only because legislation permitting it has so far been refused. The day must come when every family can and will plan to meet every one of the five great hazards so that none of its members will ever face the need of charity.

The United States and Canada pay higher wages than other countries. Nearly all their workers earn enough to provide for both present and future needs. If they will but plan ahead they may have in their years of retirement, not merely bare existence, but real comfort.

Thousands of those interested in life insurance have asked how the family income should be expended. Send for our Home Budget Booklet which tells how much should be spent for necessities—food, housing, clothing, fuel—and how much should be laid aside for protection. It will be mailed free.

URGE COOLIDGE ON ALIEN LAW

Washington, March 12 (AP)—Headed by Senator Reed of Pennsylvania, a delegation of representatives of several societies today urged President Coolidge to put the national origins provision of the 1924 immigration act into effect on July 1 by proclamation.

The sons of the American Revolution, the Immigration Restriction Association of Boston, Chicago and New York, the New York Chamber of Commerce, the American Legion, the Keymen of America, the Daughters of the American Revolution and other organizations were represented on the delegation.

Since the revised figures would diminish the number of immigrants allowed to enter in case of certain nationalities, notably the German and the Swedish, efforts have been made in some quarters to oppose the application of the national origins provision.

GUILTY PLEA OF 'PHANTOM'

John F. Mullen, known as the "Phantom Telephone Salesman," said to have mulcted $200,000 from persons in moderate means through his brokerage offices, in municipal court today pleaded guilty to the larceny of $13,000. The case was continued to March 24.

Mullen, head of the brokerage firm of Shea & Co., was arrested Feb. 3, charged with the larceny of $13,000 from Miss E. Louise Prescott of Southbridge and $1700 from George Aleterlund, Washington st. jeweler.

The next day three Fall River school teachers filed complaints against Mullen, charging him with larceny, and a similar complaint was made by a New Bedford teacher. The Fall River teachers were Leah Sorel, $13,000; Anora Sorel, $5000, and Lillian Carr, $2000. Mary E. Shsedy of New Bedford claimed she lost $3500 through Mullen.

SECRETS... that add to the comfort of Feet

Tradition hath it that women love nothing better than a secret. Perhaps that accounts, in part, for the popularity of this trim-looking kidshoe [tan or black] with its pretty mat inserts. Who would ever guess that it contains a concealed pocket to comfort and relieve a painful enlarged joint?

And the shoe keeps its secret. It allows a woman to forget she has a painful, sensitive joint. It permits her to wear a wholly comfortable, helpful shoe without proclaiming that fact to the world at large.

ARREST TWO IN BIG SWINDLE

Atlantic City, N. J., March 12—(INS)—After a chase lasting more than six months, two men, alleged by the police to be international stock swindlers, were under arrest here today. They said they were Milton Janis, 29, New Rochelle, N. Y., and Ira Janis, 32, his brother, of New York city.

The men were arrested here on a United States federal warrant, issued at the request of Edward H. Lockwood of New York, counsel for the British consul-general in New York, acting for the Canadian government. The brothers are said to have defrauded persons in many sections of the United States and Canada, of $750,000 during the last five years.

The detectives said on the way to the police station the men offered each of them $5,000 apiece to be allowed to escape.

SPRINGFIELD PASTOR IS AGAINST 'COMPANIONATES'

Springfield, March 12 (AP)—Incorporation of the service of holy communion in connection with the Protestant marriage ceremony was advocated here by Rev. Dr. Fred Winslow Adams pastor of Trinity Methodist Church, in commending the declaration of Bishop Thomas M. O'Leary of the Springfield diocese against companionate marriage as advocated by Judge Ben B. Lindsey. Dr. Adams declared that while he did favor birth control, he was opposed to any move which would break the sanctity of the wedding vows.

POISON FOUND IN BODY OF RICH CHICAGO WIDOW

Chicago, May 12 (AP)—Discovery of poison in the vital organs of Mrs. Mary Alice Dickinson, 74, wealthy widow, who died Jan. 4, brought the office of the state's attorney into the investigation today. Two witnesses to the signing of the woman's will that they did not see her affix her signature has been obtained.

Coroner Oscar Wolff ordered her body exhumed a week ago after relatives who received only small bequests from her $100,000 estate charged her will was a forgery.

Hub Policemen to Be Treated for "Flat Feet"

Anybody who calls Boston policemen "flatfeet" after a few days will be guilty of less malaise or something.

For the local cops, if they accept the offer of the foot clinics of the city, will all be subjected to examination and treatment gratis. The purpose is, according to Dr. Joseph Lelyveld, "to prevent the increasing number of foot defects brought about by the long hours of standing."

LINDY HAS CLOSE TO A MILLION thing.

Despite his longing for obscurity, he has never been able to rid himself of the holiday spirit that burst upon him by Paris last May. He has run away from more millions than any man in history.

Most of Lindbergh's fortune, which has congealed about him at the average rate of $150,000 a month since his Paris flight, falls under the head of "earned income"—which means work for pay at the controls of the Spirit of St. Louis. About $750,000 has come from his writings.

Two series of daily flight narratives, one from Europe and one from Central America, have netted approximately $150,000 from a newspaper syndicate.

"We," the autobiography of the congressman's son who came to be acclaimed by Congress, has been a best seller for months. Royalties have already mounted to close to $200,000, with publishers predicting a million sales before the present year is out.

ARMSTRONG DEFENDS JURY DUTY SYSTEM

Baptist ministers, attending their weekly conference in Chipman hall, today listened to a defense of the jury system by Chief Inspector Linsley C. Armstrong of the Bureau of Criminal Investigation, and for 37 years a member of the Boston police department.

"Massachusetts is taking as great strides as any community in the world toward crime suppression and law enforcement," he declared. "What we need today are reputable men who will not only stand up, but stand up for something."

PLAN ENTERTAINMENT FOR CATHOLIC FORESTERS

Members of the Massachusetts Catholic Order of Foresters from all over Metropolitan Boston will be guests on Thursday night of the officers and members of Columbia Court, 85, of Roxbury, at Needham Hall, 1488 Columbus ave., when Mrs. Mary A. Costello, high chief ranger of the order, will formally present the high chief ranger's "log" to the court, which will mark the opening of the intensive membership drive for Greater Boston.

SMITH FAMILY'S HOPE IN LATEST CLUE DWINDLES

New York, March 12 (AP)—A new account of the disappearance of Miss Frances Kelly Smith, missing Smith College girl, today apparently had dwindled into another futile clue. The girl's family had heard nothing from J. H. Wilkinson, Canadian Pacific Railroad conductor, who said he was certain the girl is in a Quebec convent and he would take any responsible persons to her. Wilkinson was furnished the address of the Rev. John Smith family, but up to noon today no word had come from him.

IL DUCE CROWD HAILS M'CLURE

New York, March 12 (AP)—Samuel S McClure, founder of McClure's Magazine, was carried through the theatrical district on the shoulders of enthusiastic followers of Mussolini after a debate in which he defended the Italian Premier's policies. His opponent was Dr. Vincenzo Nitti, son of the former Italian Premier.

The debate, held at the Selwyn Theater, was marked by considerable disorder, with the followers and opponents of Mussolini greeting the speakers with booing or cheering.

Mr. McClure praised Mussolini for having "solved" the problem of democracy." Dr. Nitti contended that all liberty had been abolished in Italy and that the economic and financial situation there was deplorable.

PLAN FETES TO AID POLITICS

Milwaukee, Wis., March 12 (AP)—Leap year parties and carpet slipper stag parties are to be held throughout Wisconsin to awaken interest among Wisconsin people in good government and cause an unprecedented turnout on April 3 of eligible voters of every political affiliation. The plan is engineered by A. B. Fontaine, stalwart Republican campaign manager.

In bringing about what he calls "this awakening of civic consciousness" Mr. Fontaine has conceived the idea of organizing 1000 leap year parties, 1500 kaffeeklatches and 1000 carpet slipper stags on March 17, 22 and 23.

CHAPTER 24

THE race of bisexual animals depends on the coming together of male and female. Moths find their mates by their olfactory antennae; fishes, by color and behavior; frogs, by voice and touch; birds, by voice and sight; mammals, by scent.

Man is a mammal, but he has traded his scent organ for a nose and he kills his odor with soaps or artificial scents. He discovers his mate, as do birds, by voice and sight.

Either sex, deprived of the gonads, has no need for secondary characters; nor do they appear unless the gonads function as endocrine or "puberty" glands. That is the business of the hormones of the gonads: so to catalyze developing structure that the two sexes already determined in prenatal development will not look or sound alike, but will look and sound good to each other.

Secondary sex characters therefore, are additional devices of nature for making each sex easily recognized by and more attractive to the opposite sex. Hence the "instinctive" repugnance of normal women for "womanly" men.

PUBERTY means sexual maturity; the individual is ready to assume the next stage in normal development: parentage. Modern life departs from the normal; it pays no attention to the facts of puberty. The age of marriage tends to become more and more remote from sex maturity; the education of the youth proceeds as though there were no such thing as puberty.

In normal life in girls, as in the females of all mammals, the milk glands at puberty take on rapid growth. The most noticeable changes in the boy are the appearance of hair on the face and a startling change in the growth of the cartilages and vocal cords of the larynx. The voice at first breaks; by the time it becomes normal again it has, as a rule, dropped one full octave. Meanwhile the boy outgrows his collars faster than he does his hats.

MOVE OLD STATE HOUSE? IT IS TO LAUGH!

$7,500,000 WIDENING PLAN UP

A suggestion the Old State House be moved to Boston Common or some other suitable spot to relieve traffic congestion at Congress and Exchange sts. was greeted with hoots at a hearing today before the legislative committee on municipal finance.

The suggestion by Representative John E. Beck of Chelsea, chairman, came while the committee was hearing arguments for and against Mayor Nichols' bills to widen Exchange, Portland and Merrimac sts.

The cost of the Exchange st. widening was placed at $2,500,000, and the Portland-Merrimac improvement at $5,000,000.

"Did you ever consider moving the Old State House to some other location such as the Boston Common," Beck asked Street Commissioner John J. O'Callaghan, who was explaining the bills.

"I think you would find somewhere in hiding a protective committee on that building similar to the one on Boston Common," replied O'Callaghan after expressions of amazement had subsided.

FIREBUG IS GIVEN 12 YEARS

From 12 to 20 years in State Prison was the sentence imposed on Albert W. Taber, 23, self-confessed firebug, in Superior Court today.

Taber pleaded guilty to twice setting fire to the Gibby iron Foundry, East Boston, on successive days, causing a total loss of more than $50,000.

Alienists who examined him declared him sane, but with mental development of a boy of 12 years.

Taber was a watchman at the plant. He said that the first fire was caused when he dropped his lantern, but admitted that on the second occasion he spilled a quart of kerosene on the floor, put a rag in the fluid and then dropped a lighted cigarette into it.

FITCHBURG'S FIRST PAID FIREMAN DEAD AT 75

Fitchburg, March 12 (AP)—Fitchburg's first paid fireman, Solomon Poland, 75, who was appointed 54 years ago, died today after a long illness. He was an active fireman for 50 years and was retired six years ago because of permanent injuries suffered in the performance of his duties.

Bossy Gillis Calls on Sick Boy Who Wanted Him

Marlboro, March 12—Critics of Mayor Bossy Gillis of Newburyport must admit one virtue in the belligerent mayor. He keeps his promises. Bossy Gillis, answering the plea of Walter J. Sheridan, Jr., 12-year-old invalid here, said he would visit him at the first opportunity.

SIX ARE HELD ON RUM 'BRIBERY' INDICTMENTS

Six residents of Groton, two of them town officials and one until recently chief of police, were arraigned in Middlesex Superior Criminal Court today on secret indictments based on alleged bribery in connection with liquor law violations.

All defendants pleaded not guilty and were held for a hearing April 23. They are: Atty. Frank A. Torrey, member of the board of selectmen; John H. Trayne, head of the highway department; Edward J. Leavitt, former chief of police; John Cutler, Eugene Lincoln and Amos Parquette.

A seventh defendant, Millard Smith, was not present, but it was understood he would surrender this afternoon.

Leavitt, first arraigned, had to answer three indictments, totalling 15 counts. The first, in seven counts, charged that between November 15 and December 27, 1927, at Groton, on seven different occasions he accepted bribes of $300 each, with the understanding that he would abstain from acts within his duty, relative to enforcing laws regarding the manufacture, transportation, keeping and exposing for sale intoxicating liquors.

In another indictment, Leavitt, Torrey and Trayne were charged with conspiring on September 1 at Groton to misuse and corrupt certain public offices of the town, namely the offices of selectman and chief of police; that they used the powers and duties of these offices for the purposes of securing for themselves secret and illegal profit from the obstructions of justice, extortion, larceny, bribery and other acts of malfeasance, misfeasance and nonfeasance.

BRIBERY CHARGED.

Another indictment charged Leavitt, Torrey, Trayne, Lincoln, Parquette, Cutler and others conspired on September 1, 1926, at Groton, to manufacture, transport, keep, expose and sell intoxicating liquors.

Parquette was charged in an indictment with bribery in two counts, in that on September 15 and September 20, 1927, he corruptly gave to Leavitt bribes of $300 and $20, with the understanding that he abstain from his official duties.

Leavitt and Torrey were held in $5000 each and all the others except Parquette in $1000 each. Parquette, at the request of Dist.-Atty Robert T. Bushnell, was released on his personal recognizance.

Held in Rum Plot

EUGENE LINCOLN

One of seven Groton men indicted in rum selling and bribery plot charges. Lincoln was one of six held in court today.

DI PIETRO GIVES HIMSELF UP IN BANK CASE

Andrea Di Pietro, president and treasurer of A. Di Pietro Co., private bank now in the hands of the bank commissioner, surrendered today at the courthouse, and was served with warrants by Inspector George Farrell.

Di Pietro, who was missing following the crash, appeared as a result of an agreement made between his counsel, George Hill and Asst. Dist. Atty. Frederick Doyle, last Friday, when the warrants were issued.

After his surrender Di Pietro was arraigned before Judge A. K. Cohen in municipal court, and was held in $10,000 for a hearing March 26.

Di Pietro pleaded not guilty to two counts of making false reports to the bank commissioner, and two counts of larceny from the bank. The case was continued to March 26 at the request of Atty. Hill, and bail was fixed at $10,000 at the suggestion of Asst. Dist. Atty. Doyle. Bondsmen were present in court and Di Pietro was released in a few minutes after the court formalities were over.

DR. BIEDERWOLF HOLDS SECOND OF SERVICES

Dr. W. E. Biederwolf, D. D., evangelist, held the second service of his pre-Easter campaign in Boston at noon today in the Park St. Church, speaking on the subject, "Why I Know the Bible is God's Word." William MacEwan, the Scottish tenor, conducted the song service and sang gospel solos.

COMMODORE BURRITT DIES AT BRIDGEPORT

Bridgeport, March 12 (AP)—Commodore Francis Burritt, 77, first commodore of the Larchmont Yacht Club and one of the leading yachtsmen on Long Island Sound three decades ago, died at Bridgeport hospital early today. He was born in New York, May 30, 1850, and lived in this city 35 years. He is survived by a widow, Mrs. Estelle Burritt.

DAVID I. WALSH URGES U. S. UNEMPLOYMENT BOARD

Springfield, March 12 (AP)—United States Senator David I. Walsh in a telegram today to the Springfield Central Labor Union, recommended establishment by the federal government of a board of three cabinet officers to supervise work of experts in steps to stabilize employment. He said this is necessary as national defense. He suggested that the states could supplement such activity by similar boards. Senator Walsh was invited to attend a conference here over the week-end of industrial and labor leaders to consider remedies for unemployment.

FORMER ROXBURY LATIN SCHOOL MASTER DIES

Daniel Ozro Smith Lowell, for many years headmaster of the Roxbury Latin School, died shortly before midnight at Malden Hospital, where he had been a patient for several weeks. His health had been poor for a long time. A native of Denmark, Me., and a graduate of Bowdoin in the class of 1874, he was long prominent in teaching circles in Maine and Massachusetts, retiring in 1921. His second wife, who was Anna M. Jordan of Portland, and a daughter, Muriel, survive him.

VOICING THE GREAT DEMOCRACY OF THE AIR

Station WLOE

RADIO DIALOG

Mario Kurenko, the Russian operatic coloratura soprano who made her American debut a year ago via radio, will be the chief attraction in tonight's General Motors Family Party, to be heard through WEEI. She will sing the Shadow Song from "Dinorah," three ballads in English, a serenade of Leoncavallo and Arditi's "Kiss" waltz.

An automatic radio receiving set, which brings in desired stations at the touch of a button, has been developed by Harry N. Marvin, retired millionaire inventor living at Rye, N. Y. It is the inventor's theory that most listeners confine their attention to four or five favorite stations. By means of push buttons set for each station, instantaneous changes of program are made possible. In addition there is a tuning dial for stations not controlled automatically.

Betty Alden, society editor of the Boston Evening American, is returning from Palm Beach, and will be heard on WLOE next Friday evening. She will describe some of the doings and the wearings of wintertime Floridа.

Fritz Leiber, now playing a Shakespearean repertoire in Boston will be heard in the trial scene of "The Merchant of Venice" through WBZ at 5:15 this evening.

All the members of Roxy's Gang who have been heard since the inauguration of his new theater will participate in tonight's program through WJZ-WBZ. The occasion will take the form of a birthday celebration, as it is a year since the first broadcast from the Roxy Theater.

George Gershwin's "Rhapsody in Blue," the jazz piece which found a place in the programs of all the great symphony orchestras of the land, will be played on tonight's Fish Half Hour (WEAF-WJZ).

Morrison's Irish Minstrels will entertain at WLOE commencing at 10 o'clock tonight, between bulletins of the Sharkey-Risko match at Madison Square Garden. These bulletins will be sent from the ringside, and will be put on the air from the Boston Evening American studio while the bout is going on.

"At Home With the Masters," the new Columbia chamber music feature heard through WNAC last night, brought out a little-heard work of Debussy, played in an unusual arrangement. "The Girl With the Flaxen Hair" was played by E. Roelofsma, clarinetist, with the string quartet assisting. This work first came into the light of public recognition when Fritz Kreisler played a special arrangement of it as a concert solo number. It had been written for piano.

Radio station directors are favoring to a greater degree the serious drama as an interesting program item. The day of the studio playlet, with announcers, businesses, operators and friendly visitors taking the principal roles, seems to be passing. Instead, we have recruited professionals at work adapting to radio purposes the choicest fare of the stage. WJZ has started a series of Friday afternoon matinee broadcasts of condensed versions of Broadway successes.

BRITISH SAILOR IS SHOT AS CHINESE OPEN FIRE

Hongkong, March 13 (AP)—Two British bluejackets from the gunboat Rabin, which is patrolling the Canton Delta, were fired upon Friday by the militia of a river village. One was fatally wounded. The men were members of a party of 12 which had been landed for exercise.

March Is Dangerous

Take Father John's Medicine To Ward Off Colds

March is the most dangerous month of the year because the change of season is more than a good many systems can stand. Too often it is true that the sick "tail only till spring," but if the system is filled with the impurities are driven from the blood, and the nerve tissues fed with wholesome and strength-giving food medicine, there is no danger in the change of seasons. Father John's Medicine is invaluable as a tonic in the spring. It strengthens the system and drives out the poisonous waste matter—builds up the body. It is this power that has made it so successful in treating colds and throat troubles. No weakening stimulants, morphine or other dangerous drugs.

TRAITOR IN HUB CHINATOWN TO BE 'EXILED'

Down in the narrow, slush-filled streets and lanes of Chinatown activities of various sorts have been lethargic or suspended entirely in the last few days and today the arsenal leaked out.

A traitor has been discovered in the midst of the silent men who shuffle through the cold street and who have been arrested frequently this Winter in the white men's court after police have battered down doors and broken up the games that go on within the walls.

That has been always a puzzle to the Chinese how the police knew unerringly upon just what doors to direct the blades of their axes, but there was an easier air in the quarter today when word went around, beneath the surface, that a traitor and police-informer had been found.

Shortly there will be an outcast from Boston's Chinatown, according to the understanding. There will be one dweller in Tyler st. gone forever.

DON'T MARRY YOUNG, SAYS KEYSERLING

withstands the impact of marriage far better than man.

"But it makes man a sert. Many persons approach marriage too optimistically. They expect great things of it. They look for happiness through marriage and instead they find tragedy in the majority of cases."

America, he said, is too well organized, too well institutionalized and too commercialized. America, he said, will "run down" and come to rest somewhere in the West, probably near Chicago. It is that has carried the monopoly too long.

Count Keyserling thinks America has broken with Europe. He said the soul of America is essentially "Chinese"—mystic, calm. America's aim is for the high average and not development of the individual, he said.

America, in short, according to the German savant, is due for a "gradual change," "will startle the world, and particularly America itself.

HELP KIDNEYS BY DRINKING MORE WATER

Kidney and bladder irritations often result from acidity, says a noted authority. The kidneys help filter this acid from the blood and pass it on to the bladder, where it may remain to irritate and inflame, causing a burning, scalding sensation, or setting up irritation of the neck of the bladder, causing you to seek relief two or three times during the night. The sufferer is in constant dread; the water passes sometimes with a scalding sensation and in scanty amounts; again, there is difficulty in voiding it.

Bladder weakness, most folks call it because they can't control urination. While it is extremely annoying and sometimes very painful, this is often one of the most simple ailments to overcome. Begin drinking lots of soft water, also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from your pharmacist and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, continue this for two or three days. This will help neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer set a source of irritation to the bladder and urinary organs, which then act normal again.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used by thousands of folks who are subject to urinary disorders caused by acid irritation. Jad Salts causes no bad effects whatever.

Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink which may quickly relieve your bladder irritation.

A THREE DAYS COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action! it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for rallying up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

'Pure' Boxers Battle for N. E. Crowns Tonight

92 BOUTS BILLED IN AMATEURS

New England Title Tourney at Arena Tonight Classiest Ever Staged Here

While Jack Sharkey, Brighton heavyweight, will draw down about $1000 a minute to night for his 15-round battle with Johnny Risko, more than 100 amateur boxers, who some day hope to occupy the same lofty position as the former sailor, will battle for nine or ten hours at the Boston Arena in the annual New England championships for silver and gold medals.

Only a score of kids are looking for a shot at the fortune, but each one of the 92 scheduled bouts will be somewhat anticipated by the entire ring fraternity.

Present indications point to 92 bouts. Many of these ambitious lads however may be wiped out when it comes to step on the scales at 3 p.m. They may be overweight and on account of the over-abundance of talent the boxing committee of the N. E. A. A. U. will not tolerate any extra poundage. They will be automatically dropped.

As an added spice the opening bouts will go into the ring at 6 p.m. And the boxers will be prepared to follow into the ring at a rapid rate until the finish. The champions doubt will not be crowned until the wee sma' hours of the morning, but there will be a goodly crowd to stick through to the finish.

From the flyweight class to the division of giant pures, every boy is looking forward with interest to his chance of getting the early ob stacles in order to be on hand for the more important bouts at the finish.

And with all of the eight classes well filled it is expected that the tournament will result in the survival of the fittest.

Gene Blanco of East Boston is the lone defending champion. All others have turned pro during the past 12 months. Blanco will defend his crown in the 112 pound class but with 12 entries in the division, the Noble Island fly weight faces plenty of trouble.

Gene Marchio of Wrentham, Frank Gross of Quincy, Pat Ahern of Dorchester, Jimmy Kelley of Roxbury and Johnny Lucco of Hudson are among the leading contenders who will make it interesting for Blanco.

Max Leavitt, East Boston in the 147 pound class, has a fine chance of copping. At the recent Dubuque Y. M. C. A. meet a team of his East Boston mates, the promising Somerville welter, and then bunded Pat McLaughlin of Charlestown a 9-0 king

'BUNIONEERS' TAKE WATER

Across the Colorado River From Needles, Ariz. With the Los Angeles-New York runners En Route to Ottman Ariz March 12—The men who go down to the sea in ships had nothing on C. C. "Cross-Country" Joyce Marathoners today.

Two score of boats, diesouts and canoes manned by a motley crew of Mojave Indians propelled the runners across the Colorado River and deposited them on Arizona soil with the six day trek across the Mojave Desert a memory of fallen arches, blistered feet and sunburned backs.

The ferrying, a tribute to Quomasuin, Hopi Indian tribesman of Oraibi, Ariz., shortened the day's trek to Ottman, a gold mining camp, by some 24 miles.

As the boats traversed the silt-laden stream, too some "silvery colorado" of song, the runners paddled their feet in the stream.

While the athletes ferried across the river the bigger of the caravan —the motor cruiser America, flagship, the Mobile office, the commissary with Pyle Inn, the hospital car, tra ners' machines and the carnival from the hot dog vendor to the Hula girls—anchored down the California side to reach the bridge at Topoc, 24 miles additional on the log.

CONCORD AND MAYNARD HIGH BOXERS TO BATTLE

The Concord high school interscholastic boxing team will have its second match this afternoon going to Maynard to meet the Maynard high indoor team in the first bouts for the latter. Five three-round bouts are planned.

Jack's Evil Eye Fails to Scare Johnny Risko

New York, March 12 (AP)—As is his custom, Jack Sharkey sought to "put the eye" on Risko, his opponent at Madison Square Garden tonight, but found the Cleveland "rubber man" impervious to all scowls that came his way.

As Jack posed for the usual pictures, he waved his left hand menacingly. Risko looked on solemnly for a while but finally broke into a hearty laugh. A bit sheepishly, Sharkey joined in a moment or two later.

COURT TOURNEY DRAWINGS ARE ANNOUNCED

Athletic Director McCarthy of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology today announced the following draw for the coming scholastic basketball tournament, which will begin on Thursday at 4 o'clock.

The first game of the tournament will start at 4 o'clock with Arlington high school opposing the quintet from New Bedford vocational school. Lynn classical will meet Brockton high in the second game, which is scheduled for 5 o'clock.

Games arranged for the evening will find Gloucester high meeting Framingham high at 7:30 o'clock and Medford high will meet Chelsea high one hour later.

Lynn can repeat this winter. Beckers have been playing good ball, but have met Everett twice and a Reading, Medford, or Revere, in their way are favorites.

Gloucester, best team on the North shore, has won 14 of its 15 games played. The fish town boys have a high class five and will be right in the running. Arlington high has shown Cambridge this winter. If the Arlington team is right they'll be the most feared club in the competition.

New Bedford Vocational won the Bristol County championship a few weeks ago. To try and pick the possible winner of this tournament is a most difficult task. All eight teams are of the high class variety. Much of the color of the Everett-St. John's Prep game on Saturday night was knocked off when Cambridge Latin beat Everett in one of the big surprises of the schoolboy season.

Everett had won 17 arraignment contests and seemed sure to make it 18. Cambridge Latin played a set second game and swept the Everett team right off its feet.

St. John's Prep is now the favorite to win and Everett will probably have to remain at home and also miss out on the Tech competition. Everett has a game with Chelsea tomorrow night as a practice session for the St. John's contest.

Bike Race Winners Get $5000 Apiece

New York, March 12 (INS)—Franco Georgetti and Gerard De Baets, winners of last week's six day bicycle race at Madison Square Garden here, will receive $5000 each today for their victories.

DARTMOUTH ATHLETE AIDS THE GLEE CLUB

Hanover, N. H., March 12—Tommy Maynard, Dartmouth's I. C. A. A. A. indoor and outdoor high jumping champion, added new laurels to his brow Saturday.

Tommy is a prominent athlete at college, but has turned to other fields and sang first bass with the Dartmouth College Glee Club in New York. With the help of his singing, the glee club won the national title

Makes New Record

Chester Levers recently celebrated his 58th birthday in Chicago, by skipping rope 19,000 consecutive times for the world's record. He lost 1 hour and 29 minutes while skipping 5 hours and 29 minutes at a rate of 90 skips a minute.

'Church Militant' Is on the Job Down in Texas

San Antonio, Tex., March 12 (AP)—Rube Benton, former big league pitcher and now with the Minneapolis American Association club, ran afoul of the curfew law and a preacher-policeman here last night, with the result that he is wearing a pair of black eyes and other injuries.

Following a series of safe robberies police were ordered to question anyone found on the streets after midnight. Patrolman C. W. Thurman, once a Baptist theological student and lay preacher, attempted to question Benton.

The ballplayer resented his efforts and after the melee was taken to police headquarters, whence he was taken to a hospital for first aid. No charges were filed.

PIE FOR SOMEBODY!

'AFFECTIONATE' BOXERS OUT IN N. Y.

New York, March 12 (AP)—The New York State Athletic Commission's new drive to be directed at the "affectionate" boys of the ring—those who make a habit of holding

William L. Muldoon, 82 year-old member of the commission, made this known today when he commented casually upon the frequent holding in the recent match between Jack Delaney and Tom Heeney.

"The holding in that bout," said the hale and hearty veteran, "was the worst ever seen in New York. That must stop. Referee Willie Lightfoot's fight between Jonny Risko and Jack Sharkey, we will instruct Jack Dempsey, who is going to his new training camp at Lake Tahoe, Nev., to be present and to discredit any boxer who holds.

If a bout, under ordinary conditions, would be called a draw and one of the boxers has held consistently, the officials will be instructed to award the decision to his opponent.

"Later we may decide to stop bouts after a boxer has been warned three times for holding.

"Personally I think that Delaney might have been given a draw in his bout with Heeney, but his constant holding ruled him out of consideration."

Concord Ski Honors Won by Knutsen

In spite of unfavorable snow conditions, the Middlesex School Outing Club had its third annual meet Sunday, and it proved a success, with 17 competitors from Concord and other places. It was in charge of Leif Nashe, director of the club.

The meet, which was confined to jumping, was in two classes.

Tribe Opens Series With Yanks Today

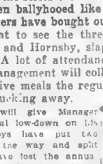
By NICK FLATLEY

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 12—Florida's big baseball circus opened today, the series between the Braves and Yankees. This affair has been ballyhooed like a world series in these parts, and the villagers have bought out the orchard.

They want to see the three biggest hitters in the game, Ruth, Gehrig and Hornsby, slap baseballs through the balmy Florida air. A lot of attendance records will be cracked and the Boston management will collect enough to pay off for some of the expensive meals the regulars and rookies, especially the rookies, are tucking away.

This week will give Manager Slattery the real low-down on his club. The boys have put two games out of the way and split even. They have lost the annual newness that is evident in exhibition pastimes at the start. They should settle into stride, and find their direction will have a pretty good line on what he must cut loose by the time Sunday comes along.

The Braves have surprised the manager and the universe by the way they have been clicking on the onion. They clicked off 28 hits in two ball games, and even against spring pitching that's real hitting. The outfit seems to have broken into a rash of base blows, and a few more games of the same sort will sell the boys the idea that they can slug. Having that notion has made many a club.



Nick Flatley

Fielding has been a bit ragged thus far, but that may be attributed to the local diamonds. The Florida sun baked the base paths to a cement-like hardness and the egg takes peculiar hops with remarkable velocity. The field here is much smoother than most so in a full week of the games the defensive machinery should get smoothed out.

The physical condition of Rogers Hornsby continues to improve and as he grows better so will the infield. Rog kicked a couple in the Red Sox game that would have been duck soup for him normally. He has defeated the blisters on his feet but hasn't limbered up his husky legs sufficiently yet. He's a heavy bird and not so young and always was slow getting into shape.

Roger gets as like the look of the ball club more and more. He's a hitter himself and likes con-

TILDEN IS MADE CAPTAIN OF U. S. TEAM

Philadelphia, March 12 (AP)—William T. Tilden, former tennis champion and ranking American player, has been selected captain of the 1928 U. S. Davis Cup team, it became known today.

Tilden succeeds Richard N. Williams III, who has led the team for a half dozen years.

In naming Tilden the Davis Cup committee, of which Dr. Walter W. Merrill is chairman, the former champion was designated to play in the American zone competition.

Nine Games Booked for Notre Dame Eleven

Notre Dame, Ind., March 12—Coach Knute K. Rockne has given out the 1928 Notre Dame football schedule which consists of nine games at home. The Irish will play Loyola University of New Orleans, Drake and Carnegie Tech. The Navy game will be staged on Soldier Field in Chicago.

Preparations for the 1928 season are dun, with new wards to be built and new regular Coach Fred Miller in the Brook Notre Collins and Chicago, will play the positions vacated by the quarterback Crowley and Marchmont Schwartz. Jack Grady, Tom Conzelman

MISS GLEITZE FAILS GOAL

London, March 12 (INS)—After struggling against rough, icy seas and unfavorable undercurrents until she was within one and a quarter miles of the African coast, Mercedes Gleitze, London's tyrist-channel swimmer, was forced to abandon her third attempt to swim the Straits of Gibraltar, according to dispatches received today.

The girl entered the water at 12:10 o'clock yesterday afternoon, escorted by a number of tugs and flaming boats. At that time the weather was cold but the sea was quite calm. Later, however, the sea became rough and seriously impeded her efforts.

Miss Gleitze conquered the English channel last year after seven unsuccessful attempts. She was the first swimmer to attempt the Gibraltar swim, said to be more difficult than the channel because of adverse currents.

On the first attempt Dec. 17 she covered 124½ miles of the 27 miles across in eight hours. On Jan 2, she tried again but was forced to give up the attempt within four miles of the coast after being in the water 11¼ hours.

Glue as Aid to Speed? Hahn Will Soon Learn

New York, March 12 (INS)—Glue is to be placed on the running track at the 102nd Engineers Armory here on Wednesday night as an aid to speed.

A special preparation of resin and hot water, which will be used to wash the floor, is expected to give the boards a firmer and faster surface when Lloyd Hahn attempts to set new world's records in the three-quarter-mile and mile events.

Sharkey - Risko Bout Bulletins From WLOE

The Boston Evening American radio broadcasting station, WLOE, will give out news bulletins on the Jack Sharkey-Johnny Risko bout, which will be held at Madison Square Garden tonight.

The bout will start at 10 o'clock, and fans will be kept informed on the progress of the battle after every round.

LLOYD HAHN IS AFTER JASPER TROPHY

New York, March 12—The three speed and the tortrian's consistency—it is this ideal racing combination that has established Lloyd Hahn, the Lincoln, Nebraska, rather as America's main hope in the middle distance of the approaching Amsterdam Olympics.

In addition to his consistent fleetness of foot Hahn also possesses another quality without which champions are not made. It is the confidence of a game cock. Without the slightest trace of self consciousness the Nebraskan recently announced his intention of running both the 800 meter and 1500 meter championships in the coming Olympics, a feat that has been accomplished but three times in the history of the great international meet. Hahn will appear for the last time this season before Eastern fans on an indoor track Wednesday night. He will run in the three-quarter-mile event for the Jasper trophy. As usual when Hahn's entry in a race is announced a new record for the Jasper race has been turned out.

The Nebraskan's fleetness in consistency is well exemplified by his performance in this race, which for the Manhattan College games annual has been run in the time three times. He was won it three times. The present record of 3:23.2 is set in 1925, surpassing Paavo Nurmi's performance.

The last Jasper trophy was given to the Nebraskan upon his third victory but the Beta Sigma Delta fraternity of Manhattan College has donated a new one.

And Hahn, Wednesday night, in his paradoxical speedy, plodding manner, will start winning the trophy all over again.

In the 1½ starts Hahn has won all but one. This race, a 1000 yard affair, he dropped to Ray Conger of Kansas City. Hahn, however, claimed that he had been "elbowed" by Conger, and walked the last 50 feet to the tape. Conger's time, a mark which surpassed Hahn's world record, was not legal allowed.

HANDBALL CHAMPION TO DEFEND HIS TITLE

Cleveland, March 13 (AP)—Leading handball players of the country were here today for the opening round of the National A. A. U. handball tournament. Play will last through the week. Sixty-four contestants representing more than 15 cities were paired for the start of play this morning.

George Nelson of Baltimore, a class champion, will defend his title. Joe Sendras of Cleveland, holder of the Ohio A. A. U. singles champion ship is counted on as a serious contender.

Conway Picks Sharkey; Jack May Get Tunney Go Next

By JACK CONWAY.

New York, March 12—Jack Sharkey, Boston heavyweight contender, all set to add victory to today's victory tonight in his 15-round battle with Johnny Risko in Madison Square Garden, looms as the logical opponent of Gene Tunney in the latter's first ring appearance since he retired undefeated champion of the world.

Sharkey, who over Risko in an impressive manner, would be signed by Jack Dempsey to clash with Tunney at the Yankee stadium on June 14. In the event Sharkey loses or gets the decision in a decisive bout, Richard will be forced to make another effort to get Jack Dempsey to come back to the ring wars.

From what I have seen of Sharkey during his five weeks of training for tonight's tussle, he's right win over Risko in decisive style.

Sharkey has regained his old fighting spark. During the training period, he has displayed the old sparkle that enabled him to conquer Wills, Godfrey, McTigue and Maloney.

While getting ready for his contest with Risko, which was declared a draw, Sharkey was listless and indifferent. He didn't seem to care whether school kept or not. A long period of inactivity and wealth estimated at close to $200,000 had caused Sharkey to lose some of his former interest in the boxing game.

SHARKEY IS ON EDGE

The Sheasey fight serv its purpose of rekindling in Sharkey the old fighting spirit. It made him realize that Jack Dempsey had not injured him physically, he had secretly feared.

Risko May Think He's Facing an Octopus After the Glove Shower

MR. BOSTON

By Jack Conway

NEW YORK, March 12—I found Mr. Boston talking wrestling and fight with Strangler Lewis. The champion is on his way to Boston to try to tame Bull Komar in a finish bout at the Arena on Wednesday night.

Mr. Boston and Lewis agreed that Sharkey would lick Risko in the Garden tonight. After reaching this understanding, Lewis told of the history of wrestling and how champions develop winning combination.

"When I became interested in wrestling years ago and placed myself under the direction of Billy Sandow I found out a lot about the history of the mat game from Sandow.

"Fred Beell, the noted Wisconsin wrestler, who once defeated Gotch for the championship, was the inspiration for my style of wrestling.

"Beell was considered a wonder among the wrestlers of his day. He was not much over 5 feet 8 inches tall, although his wrestling weight was about 178 pounds, he beat all the big wrestlers with ease. Beell at that time used the headlock; it was the form of headlock that Beell used which gave me the idea that it could be developed into a winning grip.

"It was in 1892 that rational catch-as-catch-can wrestling became the rage in this country. Joe Acton and Theodore Wendler wrestled a three-hour draw that year.

"Acton's best hold was the hammer-lock, although he also used the full nelson. Acton was reputed one of the greatest of his time.

"CLARENCE WHISTLER used the flying mare. This is a dangerous hold that may result fatally, as it causes the opponent to be hurled violently over the head of the aggressor.

"In 1904 Matsaki Sarpoli, champion of Japan, arrived in this country and was defeated by S. Matsew, Sarakki used the arm grapevine hold. The Jap only weighed about 140 pounds, but he was a wonder.

"Matsew used the double body hold. He would grasp both hands behind the small of his opponent's back and place his chin against his opponent's shoulders and trip him, forcing him backward to the mat.

"In 1903, at New Orleans, Evan Lewis won the championship. Lewis' favorite hold was the strangle hold. The strangle hold is now barred from all championship matches.

"In 1899 Frank Gotch was discovered. Gotch was the man who invented the toe hold. Gotch was a wizard with his toe hold. His usual method at the opportune moment was to grab his opponent's left leg and feint as if he were going to try and twist it off, but instead would quick ly grab the right foot and get a good toe hold. It won him many matches.

"These few instances will serve to show that every wrestler has adopted or developed some particular hold upon which he relies to a large degree for victory. Of course every man in the wrestling game is anxious to get out of himself the best that is in him in the way of offense and defense But each one has found one good hold that he uses when he feels he can pin his opponent.

"PERSONALLY I believe firmly in the effectiveness of what is known as the 'one-hold' style of wrestling. It will be recalled that I won the title from Stecher with my headlock.

"In the final analysis of the wrestling viewpoint, I am of the opinion that Dr. R. F. Roller was the cleverest wrestler before the public. Roller had a wonderful hold he called the "arm drag." He could pin a man to the mat from a standing position quicker than any wrestler I ever saw.

"Jim Parr, the English champion, was a clever wrestler. Gus Schoenlein (Americanized) was a fine rushing, slashing audience-pleaser. Dan McLaod proved a wonderful wrestler and Henry Orderman was a great wrestler.

"Comparing the present day wrestlers with those of the past one must be considered fine wrestlers, like other things, has progressed with the times Wrestling of today is as much different from the grappling of the old days as the arc lamp is different from the candle, or the aeroplane is different from the old coaster on horseback.

"None of the old timers—Roeber, Muldoon, McLaughlin, Duncan, Ross, Whitney, Owens, McMahon, Bibby—can compare with the present-day wrestlers.

"Gotch did practically what I did, perfected one good hold and used it. Of course I class Gotch and Roller with the new school of wrestlers Gotch won success in the wrestling game by inventing an entirely new hold. When he faced Hackenschmidt he did as he had planned to do. He waited until he got a chance to use his famous toe-hold and then pinned the European champion.

"I will say without egotism that I think my headlock is the most effective hold ever known to wrestling science. It took me years to perfect it, and I am working on a new hold which I believe will also be a winner."

SOX FACING TERRIFIC SCHEDULE

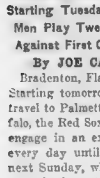
Starting Tuesday Carrigan's Men Play Twelve Straight Against First Class Teams

By JOE CASHMAN

Bradenton, Fla., March 12—Starting tomorrow, when they travel to Palmetto to play Buffalo, the Red Sox are carded to engage in an exhibition game every day until a week from next Sunday, when they pitch camp in Augusta, Ga., weather permitting, and it always seems to permit in Hermit in this neck of the woods.

This run of 13 consecutive contests against big league and class A A minor league competition is one of the stiffest schedules ever faced in spring training, and it remains to be seen whether the Fenway athletes will be better for having gone through such a grind.

Some, we are sure, will doubt the advisability of such a program, contending that a ball player can get in shape much faster and better in practice sessions than in actual contest.



Joe Cashman

WILL BENEFIT SQUAD

Manager Carrigan, though, is confident that his method will benefit as a result of this strenuous campaign, or he wouldn't order it. And, he ought to know, being one of the smartest diamond generals in the business.

One thing the string of tilts ought to do, if nothing else, is afford a true estimate of the respective worth of all the players, providing the Fenway pilot splits the work up evenly between the regulars and scrubs as he intends to and that would be a big gain.

For, after playing two games with the Giants in Augusta, the Sox will have 10 days to devote exclusively to practice and Carrigan, knowing who would and who would not be retained, could spend all of his time priming those whom he planned to keep for the opening of the campaign, which would be bound to be a good thing for the team.

That is probably the reason he put his stamp of approval on the long list of exhibition games, starting tomorrow, that, or some other equally good reason, for he is not given to doing things without cause.

A long practice session and a five-inning scrub game are on the card for today to get the boys on edge for the coming battles.

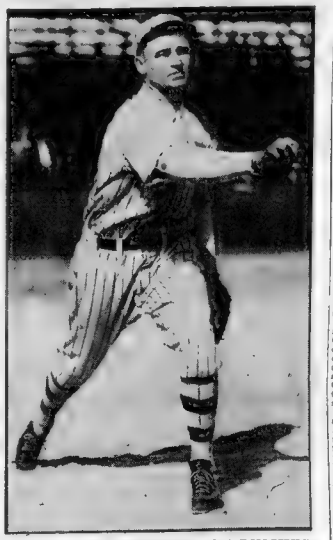
The three rookie pitchers who have not yet seen action in competition, Ralph Sticker of Arlington, Lloyd Sterling of St. John, N. B., and Frank Loschke, a product of the Kansas City sand lots, will be used on the mound.

If any of these hurlers show anything it will make Carrigan's task of deciding which ten of the score of mound men on hand to keep a mighty hard one, as those who have worked in the exhibition games to date have all looked great.

PITCHING IS BETTER

Yesterday the boys went over to Sarasota and took the Buffalo Bison International League champions in to camp, 5 to 3, and the hurlers who worked, Bennett, Crenning and Morris, all served notice by their performances that they are in the race for regular jobs.

CATCHES SLAT'S EYE



COOL AND CONFIDENT IN PINCHES

Henry Weritz, the Braves' right-hander, delivered handsomely against Washington in the South. Manager Jack Slattery has great faith in Henry.

KING SOLOMON SURE HE WILL BEAT SCHAAF

King Solomon, old friend of the Boston boxing public, will return here again next Monday night to battle Ernie Schaaf of this city in the feature bout of the Suffolk A. A. at the Arena.

Solomon will return confident of victory over the most brilliant young heavyweight in the world. The experienced King battled Schaaf over the 10-round route some weeks ago, and at the finish, when Schaaf received the decision, there was a howl of protest.

The colorful King fought nine of the 10 rounds with a broken nose. He felt that he should have received the decision, broken nose and all, and feels even more confident that, with two straight victories under his belt over Tom Sayers and Young Sylva, he will hand Schaaf his first professional defeat.

The blonde young Schaaf is a prime favorite with the boxing fans here, it was Jack Sharkey who inspired Schaaf to take up a boxing career. They were both on the U. S. S. Denver, Schaaf a 16-year-old boy and Sharkey a 20-year-old Schaaf remained in the navy after Sharkey left, and won the all fleet heavyweight championship, a thing Sharkey never did.

Eddie Adonis, the hard-punching Roxbury welterweight, and Charlie Donovan, Dorchester boy, have been matched for the eight-round semi-final bout. In another eight-round go Jimmy Amato White of this city will resume an argument with Bob Jasse of Revere that started in Lynn last Monday night.

Red Sox Notes

"Ellm" Harries, who was also a late arrival because of sickness, is still far from being himself, and no date has been set for his debut.

This young Ed Connelly from Brooklyn looks like a great catching prospect. He lacks experience, never having played outside of the sand lots in the City of Churches, but nothing else. His arm is as great as that of "Dinty" Hogan, which is some great. He hits them a mile, and he has an ideal build for a receiver. He should be heard from soon.

Two former Tribal warriors, Eddie Taylor and Gus Felix, were in the Buffalo lineup which faced the Sox yesterday. Taylor appeared to have a sore arm. Felix looks the same as ever.

Another old Boston favorite, Mickey Devine, who caught for the Red Sox a few seasons back, was behind the platter the latter part of the game for the Bisons. The "Wild Irish Rose" was just as wild as ever, continually riding his honor the "ump."

As a result of their victory, the Sox now claim to be the champions of the International League as well as the champions of Boston, the latter title gained when they beat the Braves last week.

The Sarasota park, which John McGraw laid out when his Giants were training there and which he claims to be as large as the Polo Grounds, is not nearly as large as the Bradenton park.

John "Shono" Collins is preparing to go home. He fears if he sticks around much longer he will be in no shape to put his Pittsfield players through Spring practice at Fenway Park the latter part of this month, so Lefty Joe Bill Carrigan keep him working out at the park. "Shono" likes two or three of the Sox rookies, but the bad feature of it is that Carrigan likes the same players.

BRAVES OPEN WITH YANKS IN SOUTH

pany. And his brother Braves have impressed him

"There's nothing accidental about it," he claims, "about the way these boys hit that baseball. They can soak and the team has lots of kick enough to be right into the race with any sort of pitching. And we should have good pitching. I've seen first division clubs with much poorer box prospects than the Braves have right now."

WERTZ HAS IMPROVED

Manager Slattery, also, is inclined to think that his sharpshooters will do well. He has been paying special attention to Henry Wertz, has sold the young man confidence and has him feeling like a big leaguer. Henry looked the money in the Senator joust.

Slats also likes tickled pink by the southpaw pitching of big Brandt. Good left-handers are scarcer than carrot-tied drivers, and the chunker from the coast acts like a real one. He owns a fine curve and showed a fast ball that caused George Sisler to wonder why the tall chap hadn't been up to the big show before.

Greenfield, Genewich, Robertson and Bob Smith have all been stamped Al big leaguers by the manager, who also has high hopes for Foster Edwards and Art Mills, not to mention another, Art Delaney, from the Pacific slopes. Jack isn't worrying about his pitchers, over whom he has now taken complete charge. His lets Devlin look out for the fielders. Hornsby advises the hitters and devotes all time and attention to the fingers.

Jack, as time goes along, shows up as a systematic and thorough manager, who has his campaign all mapped out and figured. His club is advancing the way he want it to progress and he isn't going to make any predictions until he knows exactly what's what.

Genewich, Edwards and possibly Bunny Hearn will work against the Yanks this afternoon. All three have been effective so far and as the Yanks are a week later in condition than the Braves the fact that they're world's champs doesn't make them favorites in this corner of the universe.

BABE AND LOU

Large Babe Ruth and Gehrig have been hitting the ball around the west coast, however, and Miller Huggins has succeeded in dropping a long fly into the lake back of the ball yard, a stunt that was not able to perpetuate last year or the spring before.

Huggins has most of his regulars ready to toss against the Braves, and this series will give the Slat-ters the best line of pre-season experience under real fire.

Ball games are on the list for every day of the week. The Senators come here tomorrow, and the Cardinals the day after. The Yankees collide with the Tribe Thursday and Saturday, and the University of Florida entertains in between. The rookies and the young pitchers will be worked out more and before the ball games.

Hornsby has been giving the kids batting lessons daily, and believes that two real thumpers have been discovered in Peploski and Wright, both left-hand hitters, with plenty of moxie. The pair look so good that they may be retained for pinch duty for a month or so anyhow.

SID BARBARIAN BOXES FLOWERS

Sid Barbarian, the fighting tiger of Detroit, a boy who has never failed to deliver the slambang stuff, and Bruce Flowers of New York, recent victor over Dick "Honeyboy" Finnegan of Dorchester, will meet in the top bout of a double windup of two 10-rounders to be staged by the Argonne A. A. in the Mechanics Building a week from next Thursday night, March 22.

In the other 10-rounder Teddy Sandwina, the American born light heavy star of Germany, will take on Nanie Tassi, light heavy champion of Italy, both of whom have recently scored here, and scored heavily.

Under the tens will be a program of five fours between the best ringsters available. These bouts will be announced on the return of Eddie Mack from New York, where he is negotiating for a battle between Sammy Mandell and Bruce Flowers, as an early summer attraction at Braves Field.

Round the Links With BOBBY JONES

By ROBERT T. JONES, Jr.

National Amateur, British Open and Southern Open Champion.

PEOPLE who do not play golf have difficulty in understanding why sudden noises or sudden motion in a player's line of vision usually upsets him and causes him to miss the shot. Apparently, baseball and golf require the same sort of concentration, yet a ball player nearly always has to produce his best in the midst of a din of cheering.

The disturbances which annoy a golfer are not those which begin before he addresses his ball and continue throughout the time he is making the stroke. In a measure, it is possible to shut out all consciousness of a continuous noise. But when someone shouts out of a dead silence or a whistle blasts shrilly in the distance, the player cannot be prepared for it.

On two or three occasions I have made good shots before a baseball audience. I have stood in the batter's box in Atlanta and fired balls at the center field fence. And playing before a baseball crowd one is bound to get a baseball reception. Few in the stands were golfers, so I was freely admonished to "knock it over the fence," or to "lose it," all the while I was sitting the ball.

I am sure had such a thing occurred on the first tee at East Lake, I should have been considerably upset. In the first place, I should have been convinced that the people around me had lost their minds, and second, I should have expected to be physically attacked at any minute. But somehow, I had no such sensations on the baseball field.

The noise and shouting were there as an inseparable part of the situation and the natural course was to accept them.

I THINK also that there is another reason that the hubbub is not a distraction to the ball player. Unlike the golfer, he has the comfort of knowing that his spectators are safely ensconced in more or less comfortable seats and will not go scampering across the field in front of him.

I remember on the occasions of my appearance before a baseball crowd how happy I was to think, "Well, at least they can't get out of the stands."

The execution of a golf shot is a slow, thoughful process. There are many actuating forces which must be perfectly co-ordinated in order to achieve the desired results. The small ball must not only be struck with the face of the club, but it must be struck exactly. It avails little simply to hit the ball, for that is only a small part of the story.

Around every club there are certain man who like to make up and play freak matches. An old favorite is a handicap game in which the poorer player is permitted to shout or drop his ball or make some other noise a certain number of times while his opponent is playing.

The wise ones at the game will shout once or twice on the first two or three holes, afterward maintaining a studied silence. From these results, it would appear that the absence of noise when it is expected is about as effective as a sudden outburst.

UNEXPECTED motion is quite as distracting as noises. If a person standing a few feet behind the player so much as moves his foot, it may be enough to cause the eye to wander off the ball.

The golfer's sensitiveness to outside disturbances apparently, I think, is far from being affected. It is very, very real, and something he can not cure. Golf is not a game of action. It is a game requiring complete mental and muscular composure, and there is not room or time for other matters.

Another Yank Title Is Bound for France

New York, March 12—Another American tennis title is on its way to France today. Pierre Etchebaster, the Basque professional court tennis player, who sailed aboard the Majestic, carries with him the American professional court title and the scalp of Jack Soutar, leading American professional court tennis player, whom he defeated in Philadelphia, three weeks ago.

Elzidge Watson, American president of Paris who accompanied Etchebaster to this country to manage the Basque's affairs, announced that the champion would return in 1929 for a challenge match.

Rene Lacoste took the American lawn tennis championship to Paris with him last fall after defeating Tilden at Forest Hills morning after the Heeney bout and asked him how he felt with the tussle over.

SHARKEY 13 TO 5 FAVORITE OVER RISKO

"I know I'm all right now," said Sharkey.

He proved this while training for Risko. He has worked harder for tonight's tussle than for any encounter of his career. He is down to 199 pounds, which is his best fighting weight. This means he should be lightning fast.

Sharkey has built up a left hand attack for the rushing Risko. It figured that the Cleveland Indian would not get out of the way of left hand thrusts. Sharkey intends to keep boring at a fast clip as he figures it would be unwise for him to stand up and swap blows with a rugged fellow like Risko.

Risko has spent most of his time with training developing a left hook to the body. Johnny Dunn is manager, contends that Sharkey has a body weakness and it is his intention to have Risko smash away for the latter contender's midsection.

Risko has a great deal of boxing style. He is a tireless plodder, with a healthy left hook which bears down to the head or body with equal effect.

RISKO CONFIDENT

The Cleveland warrior believes that the 15-round route is in his favor. He is of the opinion that Sharkey will tire after five or six rounds and that he will then be able to score with some effective punches.

Risko has beaten Delaney, Paulino and others of the flashy elect and says he will grasp the opportunity presented to him by a bout.

It will be the second meeting between Sharkey and Risko.

When they battled at Lynn seven years ago last September Sharkey scored an easy victory over the 10-round route.

If Sharkey comes through in brilliant form tonight Risko will be in for a contender to put against Tuney will be at an end. A win for Sharkey in a poor bout or a big victory would scramble things up again. The public refuses to take Risko seriously as a heavyweight contender. In the event the Brockton boy should win, Rickard would insist that he go through further elimination.

JOE MONTE IN SEMI FINAL

There is quite a number of Joe Ton fans here. The Lynn lad's debut, of course, has its representatives on the job who are taking in tonight's jam while here on business.

Tom Goodwin is in town signing mat men for the Suffolk A. A. while Eddie Mack is here booking attractions for the Argonne A. A.

Bobby Goldman, manager of Al Mello, has been in conference with representatives of Californian and Chicago promoters who are seeking the services of the Lowell southpaw.

CARL ROCHE AND DALEY AT LYNN TONIGHT

Tommy Daley and Carl Roche will be the headliners of the Crescent A. C. card for tonight in Central hall, Lynn. Daley is a local favorite while Roche has a large following in his home city of Everett. Both boxers always please whenever they perform and in bringing them both together in the same ring is sure to be a bout full of action.

The semi-final will be put together Frank Hemmer of Lynn and Frankie Powers of the Lynn Y. M. C. A. In the first preliminary bout Pennie Holmes of Lynn A. C. and Freddie Martin of Revere A. A. in the other a six-rounder will take on Joe Young of East Boston.

Why it is important to filter the oil in your engine

The AC Oil Filter removes the dirt, sludge, metal particles and other foreign matter from the oil, thereby eliminating excessive engine wear and frequent oil changing, thus minimizing repair bills and oil expense.

When the oil filter becomes filled with dirt it has taken from the oil, it ceases to function. Only by installing a renewal cartridge when needed, insuring continuous filtration, can the oil be kept clean.

Attendants at our booth, or any dealer, will gladly show you how to test your AC Oil Filter.

She finds the unusual and tells of good values

DUSK TIME COMES

THE SHADOWS FALL and wood fires burn in homes where lights are gleaming. Rose lamps casting mellow beams and softly sending a signal through the darkened streets. All sorts of lamps are in a shop I know, quaint Dresden China Doll Lamps for your dressing table, $2.00. And many others.

MANY MYSTERIOUS SCENTS are combined in a jar of yellow bath salts, fine and powdery, which, elusively fragrant, soothes you beyond expression and produces restful sleep. $1.00 a jar.

A SHIRT HOSPITAL for men's shirts where you can have them reinforced, mended and made like new. Do not throw away his favorite shirt—take it to the hospital!

FROM DISTANT PORTO RICO comes a hand embroidered luncheon set worked in a basket design in colors which will fill the Easter Bride with joy. Priced at $1.98. Special value!

SKIRTS PLEATED by an old and established concern for $3.50 if you bring your own material. You can also get ruchings, picoting and hemstitching in many styles or hand embroidery done. A very helpful store to know about.

FEET FEEL FATIGUED and some have many troubles. There feet need a foot exerciser priced at $1.50. If used regularly your feet will feel like new and you'll walk on air.

CERTAINLY CIGARETTES are made for smoking but there is an attractive package in black combined with roses, filled with "empty" cigarettes. You light one, which lets your old blue incense burner and a lingering oriental fragrance fills the air. Price 50c a box.

Send me your name and address, with a loose 2c stamp enclosed, and I will tell you where these things can be purchased.

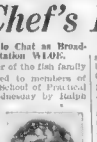
Martha Lee Tells of Chef's Lesson

Martha Lee Radio Chat as Broadcast from Station WIAE.

A NEW member of the fish family was introduced to members of the Martha Lee School of Practical Cookery last Wednesday by Ralph De Matteo, chef of the Hotel Somerset. In his interesting lesson on the preparation of fish and salads Mr. De Matteo demonstrated that a fish dish may be both economical and delicious.

He prepared a Fillet of Kingfish Lamaise after selecting kingfish because it is not as familiar to New England housewives as cod or haddock, and is economical besides, for it costs only a pound in the large markets. De Matteo first cut the fish, which weighed eight pounds, and removed the bones and skin.



Martha Lee

Your fish may be cooked in a buttered casserole or covered with foil paper, basted and cut in thin slices. Add salt and pepper and dot with butter and bake in a moderate oven 30 minutes or until it is done. The result was a most appetizing

Next Mr. De Matteo prepared salads particularly suitable for bridge parties. First, a large Salad Oriental, originated by him and prepared for the first time for the Hotel Somerset. A large pineapple was split lengthwise and the pulp scooped out. This was diced and mixed with equal parts of diced grapefruit, oranges and peaches, with a liberal sprinkling of sugar.

The pineapple shells were then used to end on a large platter, surrounded by lettuce leaves, and alternately filled with the fruit and nuts. On the top of the fruit was arranged a fresh pear, [illegible] and the [illegible] leaves. These were [illegible] dipping each other and [illegible] the color of the salad was attained. Two overlapping layers of sliced bananas These in turn were topped with a row of luscious ripe strawberries.

This certainly makes a very handsome salad and one that is as good to eat as it is to look at. For a dressing, whipped cream was used with sufficient juice from [illegible] pineapple chunks to give the cream a lovely pink coloring. This was [illegible] and the fruit salad was dressed.

[illegible] Martha Lee's recipe for [illegible] Mr. De Matteo [illegible] cut in thin [illegible] salt and pepper and [illegible] butter and bake in a moderate oven 30 minutes or until it is done. The result was a most appetizing.

"I always personally supervise the washing of it to make certain it is as in Lux suds," Aileen said.

And over at Paramount, Travis Banton, costume director for all productions, reveals that in caring for the thousands of beautiful costumes and the vast stock of fabrics in the Paramount wardrobes and sets, Lux is used . . . because it saves money by keeping all kinds of fabrics new-looking twice as long.

"We now use Lux for every bit of laundry in our vast wardrobe department. We no longer discard costumes which have lost their new look. We 'Lux' them. Lux doubles the life of sturdy fabrics as well as sheer materials," he said.

Millions of women also use Lux because its pure suds cleanse safely. Keep fabrics new twice as long.

Rheumatism and Neuritis

By Chas. A. L. Reed, M. D., Former President of the American Medical Association.

WINTER days, especially the changing warm, cold and damp days of spring, are, to many, rheumatic days. That is not because temperature and humidity are direct causes of rheumatism, which is always the expression of a poisoned state of the system. What cold and moisture, especially moist drafts of air, do for people whose systems are already poisoned is to lower the resistance either of the general system or of particular muscles in which the poisoned [illegible] collects. When the present [illegible] seems [illegible] Lorn is called acute, when it is harder and constantly recurring it is called chronic.

Final Bid 6♠ Played by West

South is the dealer. What is the proper bidding and play?

In the next issue Mr. Whitehead will explain the salient points in the bidding and play of the above hand. Fill out your own chart and compare it with his method.

These hands must not be bid or played "Double Dummy," i. e., so though all four hands were exposed.

Salient Points of the Bidding

GRADUAL BIDDING UP OF STRONG SUIT INSTEAD OF PRE-EMPTING

Following South's Heart bid, West quite properly bids his Club suit instead of Spades, and continues to bid Clubs without showing the Spade suit. Players in West's position with this holding frequently commit the error of assuming that they should at some stage of the bidding show a four-card Major suit, this holding a strong seven-card Major, overlooking the fact that a hand that is practically void of two suits should never risk the danger of partner's insisting upon making the 7-card suit the trump, which is very likely to happen once the suit is mentioned, particularly in view of the fact that partner may reason that he is assured to hold two or less cards of the long suit. Another error would be to make a pre-emptive bid in the seven-card suit in disregard of the possibility that partner may hold one or no cards of the suit, and sufficient strength and length in the four-card suit to make a free bid of it unless stopped by a pre-emptive bid.

Salient Points of the Play

RUFFING OUT LOSING CARDS BEFORE LEADING TRUMPS

Tricks 1 and 2. South, realizing the impossibility of Hearts going around a second time, overtakes his partner's trick and leads Diamonds on the possible chance of establishing a trick in his partner's suit. North's King, played unnecessarily, showed the top of a long sequence.

Tricks 3 to 6. Declarer, leading high and low in Spades, ruffs his only losing side card, leaving but one more trick, a trump trick, for the adversaries in subsequent play.

Mr. Whitehead will answer questions concerning your Bridge problems. Write to him care of this paper, enclosing self-addressed stamped envelope.

THE MEDITATIONS OF A WIFE

By HELEN ROWLAND

THERE is nothing like a little absence to cure a budding romance or revive a dying love.

The average man makes love very much as he carves a fowl. Either he rushes in and mutilates the whole thing, or he takes so long to get started that a woman loses half her interest.

Many a prima donna could take a lesson from President Coolidge, by retiring at the height of her popularity. And so could many a girl, by knowing just the psychological moment at which to tune off a love affair.

Distance lends enchantment — which is probably why the average man's wife and his stenographer always secretly suspect that the other gets the benefit of all the sweeter side of his nature.

The only difference between companionate marriage and any other kind of "free love" appears to be that the man will escape the chance of being sued for "heart-balm." Every new "feminisity" fad seems designed to make the world safer and sweeter for men, and duller for the women.

* * *

The question in a man's mind used to be, "Do I dare to kiss her?"; later it was, "Do I care to kiss her?"; now it's "Do I HAVE to kiss her?"

There are only two ages at which a man faces the altar without a shudder: at 20, when he doesn't know what's happening to him—and at 80, when he doesn't care.

Two things that never can be warmed over are a cold baked potato and a last year's romance.

SHOWING GRATITUDE

By LUCY LOWELL

"DON'T overload gratitude," wrote the wise Benjamin Franklin. He added, "If you do, she'll kick."

It strikes me that here is a bit of advice to think about. There is, perhaps, no experience in the world so completely banal to one who has done a favor, great or small, as that in which the recipient of the favor undertakes to express his thanks in the overwhelming manner which some seem to consider necessary for such action.

However, there is no real emphasis in repetition, hyperbole, bizarre methods and manners of speech. Those instead carry an inference of a lack of conviction which must be made up for by exaggeration.

They are resorted to by some because of self-consciousness. Others suffering, perhaps, from a slight inferiority complex, unconsciously use such as a means of balancing up their shortcomings. And still others are handicapped by a true conception of the value of gratitude.

In any case the effect upon the giver—the one who conferred the favor—is to make him think "What have I done to deserve all this?"

As a matter of fact the one who benefits most from a kindly deed is the perpetrator of it. A favor is a sort of benevolent boomerang which gathers blessings as it flies back to the one who sent it out.

And while this does not relieve the recipient of the necessity for being grateful, it does take from him any reason for abject gratitude.

"Thank you," sincerely spoken is the most acceptible expression of gratitude.

MUSTEROLE WILL NOT BLISTER

Better than a mustard plaster

Grandmother Knew

there was nothing so good for congestion and colds as mustard. But the old-fashioned mustard plaster stained and blistered.

Musterole gives the relief and help that mustard plasters gave, without the plaster and without the blister.

It is clean, white ointment, made with oil of mustard. Gently rub it in. See how quickly the pain disappears.

Try Musterole for sore throat, bronchitis, tonsilitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, headache, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frosted feet, colds of the chest (it may prevent pneumonia).

The whole world knows Aspirin as an effective antidote for pain. But it's just as important to know that there is only one genuine Bayer Aspirin. The name Bayer is on every tablet, and on the box. If it says Bayer, it's genuine; and if it doesn't, it is not! Headaches are dispelled by Bayer Aspirin. So are colds, and the pain that goes with them; even neuralgia, neuritis, and rheumatism promptly relieved. Get Bayer—at any drugstore—with proven directions.

Physicians prescribe Bayer Aspirin; it does NOT affect the heart

Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacture of Monoaceticacidester of Salicylicacid

LEGAL ADVERTISEMENTS

In compliance with the provisions as stated in Article Fourteenth of the Will of the late George Robert White, viz:

ARTICLE FOURTEENTH: Whereas my sister Mary E. Sullivan has died, and I have otherwise provided for my sister Harriet J. Bradbury, I do now carry out by this codicil my public charitable purpose which in previous wills I (7) had provided for in remainder, and I do now give all the rest and residue of my property of every nature to the City of Boston, the same to be held as a permanent charitable trust fund to be known as the George Robert White Fund, and the net income only to be used for creating works of public utility and beauty, for the use and enjoyment of the inhabitants of the City of Boston. It is my intention that no part of said income, however, shall be used for a religious, political, educational or any purpose which it shall be the duty of the City in the ordinary course of events to provide.

The control and management of said Fund and the disbursement of the income shall be in the hands of a board of five trustees to consist of the Mayor, who shall be its chairman, the President of the City Council, the City Auditor, the President of the Chamber of Commerce and the President of the Bar Association of the City of Boston, if by the reason of the abolition of any one or more of these offices or the declination or resignation of any one or more of the persons holding them for the time being a vacancy or vacancies shall occur, I direct that such vacancies shall be filled by the remaining members of the board, by the election of the persons whose respective positions and duties shall in the opinion of the board most nearly correspond thereto. As this is a public charitable gift to the City of Boston, it is my intention that the (8) City shall at all times be officially represented by a majority of the board of trustees charged with its management.

The business of the Fund shall be transacted through the regular departments of the City, viz. the Treasurer, Auditor, Corporation Counsel, etc., and a suitable office or offices for the use of the trustees shall be provided for them by the City in the City Hall or elsewhere, in which shall be kept all books and records of every nature relating to the management of the Fund, properly indexed and readily accessible during business hours for the reasonable inspection of citizens, so that all who so desire may have full knowledge of the conduct of the business of the Fund. A direct that said income shall not be anticipated or pledged beyond the amount actually in hand, but it may be accumulated for any purpose within the scope of the gift, and successive accumulations may be applied to the same object. Any work or works established from the Fund may be improved, extended, enlarged or added to from time to time, but the current expenses of their care and maintenance shall be borne by the City. I also direct that no part of said income shall be mingled with other funds or applied to joint undertakings; but that each work established under this gift shall be separate and distinct, and shall always bear in a conspicuous place a suitable inscription identifying (9) it as erected or established from said George Robert White Fund. If for any reason the principal of said Fund shall at any time become impaired, the income shall be allowed to accumulate until such impairment shall have been made good.

Inasmuch as I believe an enlightened public opinion to be the most effective safeguard for the preservation and maintenance of such a charitable fund and the best guide to its effective use, I direct that at least once a year the trustees shall cause to be published in most if not all of the daily newspapers of general circulation in Boston a full and comprehensive report, duly audited, and signed and sworn to by at least three of their number, setting forth the receipts, disbursements and investments of the Fund and a copy of this fourteenth article of my will establishing it.

In order to diminish the chance of hasty or unconsidered action in the expenditure of income, I believe that no substantial expenditure should be made for any purpose until the fund shall have been under consideration by the trustees for at least three months.

As it is probable that said Fund will consist in greater part of real estate centrally situated in the City of Boston which is reasonably sure to increase in value, I urgently recommend that such real estate be not sold for a period of at least one hundred (100) years, that lenses of the same (10) shall be subject to revaluations as a basis of rentals every ten (10) years and where necessary shall provide for rebuilding by the lessees, that the real estate shall be mortgaged, and the buildings thereon shall be kept fully insured.

If any clause or provision of the foregoing charitable gift should be found to be invalid in law, it shall not invalidate the gift as a whole but shall so far as possible be construed as an expression of my general intent.

While I think that Boston has now few, if any, superiors in beauty and in the many privileges it affords to its citizens, yet I believe it has greater possibilities for the future, for the enjoyment of its citizens among those afforded by other cities,—such as a zoological garden and handsome buildings therefor, an aquarium, a forum of substantial proportions for public gatherings, etc.—which we do not possess. It is with such things as these in mind that I have established the foregoing trust fund.

I can conceive that pressure might be brought to bear to use the income of this Fund for small and comparatively unimportant needs, which might be very deserving and beneficial, but outside the true scope of the Trust as heretofore expressed. A use of it for such purposes to any substantial extent would be contrary to my intention, which is that its income, accumulated if need be for a time long enough to make it sufficiently large, (11) be used for some significant civic improvement.

I suggest that printed copies, in convenient pamphlet form of this the fourteenth article of my will be kept at the office of the trustees of the Fund for free distribution to citizens of Boston.

I request that the trustees named in this article shall annually designate one of their number who shall visit and inspect my lot in Forest Hills Cemetery in the months of April and September of each year, and report to the board any neglect or failure to comply with the provisions of the contract of perpetual care, as well as Article First of this my will, in regard to the care of said lot, and it shall be the duty of said trustees to see that such neglect or lack of care be remedied without delay.

The trustees of the George Robert White Fund herewith submit the sixth report of the fund for the year ending December 31, 1927:

Then personally appeared the above named Trustees, who made oath to the foregoing statement by them true to the best of their knowledge and belief.
Boston, March 8th, 1928. PAUL M. KEATING, Notary Public.

AUDITORS' CERTIFICATE

We have audited the books and accounts of the GEORGE ROBERT WHITE FUND, for the year ending December 31, 1927. We have ascertained that all income receivable has been accounted for, that all expenditures have been authorized and approved; that all bonds held as investments on December 31, 1927, are recorded at cost, and have been produced to us, and that the cash balances of the Fund at said date have been confirmed to us by the depositary banks. The real estate held by the Trustees is shown in the accounts of the Fund in accordance with the values stated in the Inventory of the Executors under the will of George Robert White, a certified copy of which was produced to us, plus additions at cost; and we have ascertained that the buildings thereon are fully insured, as required under said will.

WE HEREBY CERTIFY that the foregoing statement of the Fund's accounts correctly summarizes the Trustees' transactions for the year ending December 31, 1927, and exhibits the financial condition of the Fund as of that date.

PATTERSON, TEELE & DENNIS,
Accountants and Auditors.
1 Federal Street, Boston, Mass., February 17, 1928.

STATEMENT

In the expenditure of the net income of the Fund—"for creating works of public utility and beauty"—the Trustees have adopted a policy of establishing HEALTH UNITS in various sections of the City, with the hope of thus being able—by proper instruction—to better the living and health conditions of the communities in the congested districts.

Conferences have been held with the various health agencies and welfare workers of the City in an endeavor to have the policy of the Trustees made beneficial and constructive and also to insure the establishment of the Health Units in such locations as will best serve "for the use and enjoyment of the inhabitants of the City of Boston."

In conformity therewith, the first Health Unit has been established at North Margin Street and Baldwin Place; having been turned over on its completion, November 1, 1924, to the Health Department of the City—for its care and maintenance—in accordance with the terms of the will of the late George Robert White.

The second Health Unit has been established at Paris and Emmons Streets in East Boston and has been in operation—under the Health Department of the City—since August 4, 1926.

The third Health Unit has been established at Dorchester, West Fourth and Gold Streets in South Boston—having been dedicated on June 28, 1927, and in operation—by the Health Department of the City—from that date.

The Health Unit buildings have varied in size from (the first) 3200 square feet to the (third) 5143 square feet and have been erected on lots of land varying in area from 12,570 square feet to 14,868 square feet—thus providing Health Units with accommodations and equipment fully adequate to the requirements of the people of the districts and also open-air parks for use in connection therewith.

It is the intention of the Trustees to establish the fourth Health Unit in Charlestown and to commence the erection of the building in July of the present year.

John J Hefferman, President of the City Council, served as Trustee to August 25, 1927.

George R. Nutter, President of the Bar Association of the City of Boston, served as Trustee to October 8, 1927.

GEORGE E. PHELAN, Manager.

NATIONAL POLICIES OF THE HEARST NEWSPAPERS

1. An agreement of English-speaking peoples to preserve peace among themselves and promote the peace of the world.
2. A constitutional amendment to provide for the election of United States Senators in numbers proportionate to the population of each State, but no State to have less than two Senators. A reapportionment of Congressional representation immediately after every census, or in case of the failure of Congress so to act, to make the apportionment automatic at the end of the first Congressional session, the proportion of population for each representative in each case to be that of the existing Congress.
3. A separate Department of the Army, of the Navy and of the Air Forces, all united under a Secretary of National Defence.
4. Federal action to the limit of Federal Government powers to abolish illiteracy among the people of the United States, and the creation of a Secretary of Education.
5. Necessary measures to secure the election of Congress in November and its installation on the 1st of January following, and the inauguration of a President on the 1st of January immediately following his election in November.

New Hampshire Speaks

Tomorrow's Will Be First of This Year's Presidential Primaries

The presidential primary to be held tomorrow in New Hampshire, first in the country, will show nothing clearly perhaps except the strength of the "Smith" sentiment, in a State which is unlikely to be found on Election Day in any other than the Republican column.

New Hampshire will send eight delegates to the Democratic National Convention at Houston; there are 12 candidates for these eight places.

Under the law, the New Hampshire candidate for delegate "may" declare his choice for President. If he does, the name of his presidential preference is printed on the ballot beside his own.

Seven of the 12 runners in the Democratic field in the Granite State name the Governor of New York as their candidate. Of the others, one, a Concord "dry," is frankly "anti-Smith." The rest are non-committal.

In the Republican column, the situation is altogether different. Here, there are 15 aspirants for seven places. The preferences of only two are named upon the ballot. Neither of these delegate-candidates is widely known. One pledges himself to Herbert C. Hoover, the other is of those who would "draft" the President.

As at present advised, the great body of the Republican party in New Hampshire wants the Secretary of Commerce as their candidate. United States Senator Moses was one of the earliest to pick a front seat on the Hoover "wagon." Governor Spaulding is among Mr. Hoover's personal friends. Mayor Moreau of Manchester and Thomas Rice Varick of the same city are organization men, as are, of course, Chairman Cheney of the State Committee and Judge Barton, of Newport. If there is anything ticklish in the situation which confronts G. O. P. leaders it comes from the multiplicity of delegate-candidates. In so large a field, one or more of the "organization" men may fall by the wayside.

Under the law, this Presidential Primary Day is also Town Meeting Day, which means that the village vote will be polled in full. The farmers will come out to take a hand in the choice of Selectmen, decide upon the amount of money which must go to the schools, settle a few highway fights.

In the cities, where "the vote" is, conditions are quite unlike. How many men and women, in Manchester, Nashua, Portsmouth, Dover, Concord and the other centers of population can be drawn to the polling places to do no more than vote for someone eager to go at his own expense to Kansas City or Houston? Under ordinary circumstances, perhaps, not many.

To DRAW the city voter to the polling-places tomorrow the bells are to be rung hourly, from noon until 8 p. m. He has been appealed to by notices flashed upon the screens of the motion-picture theaters. In some instances he was yesterday reminded of his citizen's duty by a word or two from the pulpit. If his name has not been voted by supper-time tomorrow evening the party chieftains will give him a call by telephone.

It seems a lot of trouble to take for the selection of UNINSTRUCTED delegates, but wherever the Republican organization is strong the party leaders hope to poll a dependable lead for "organization" men. Whatever happens, the delegation from New Hampshire to Kansas City is likely to leave home with a general understanding that these votes are for Hoover so long as the Secretary is a candidate and has a "chance."

But the decisive news from the Granite State tomorrow night will be that which indicates the measure and extent of New England's interest in the candidacy of Governor Smith.

Cartooning Mussolini

He Can Stand It

MUSSOLINI IN ACTION

This cartoon from the German newspaper Simplicissimus is supposed to make Mussolini ridiculous. But it really shows him about as he IS.

If any man in the last hundred years has really given a good imitation of Jupiter, hurling bolts of lightning, that man is Benito Mussolini, dictator of Italy, defier of the League of Nations and everything else on earth and under the earth.

A New Yorker's Europe

by O. O. McINTYRE

PARIS, March 12—The Latin Quarter continues to provoke smiles in the same fashion as Greenwich Village. It displays its ridiculous side and the real cultural ferment stirring underneath is rarely seen. Only comic poseurs and the still-born "arty" what-nots are on parade.

The Cafe du Dome remains the Montarnasse Mecca with the Rotonde across the street and Le Select down the block catching the overflow. Here the boys and girls referred to at home as "studying art abroad" wear berets and smocks and pile up the saucers.

Every freak item of art finds immediate following. The young man with lattiecl boots and velvet hat sipping his pernod is a paleo-meditationist. This school will just "meditate" for years before doing anything in the way of actual physical effort. Sometimes they never get around to it.

The young girl with the Dutch bob who wears a robe and sandals and puffs a little cigar is identified with the neo-Something or other. She makes her way through the tables of the Dome like a line-plunging fullback—not showing off, you understand. Just thinking great big thoughts. And always Kiki, the Dome hoyden.

Two girls in mannish attire with swagger sticks and monocles debouch from the Metro. They stop as inconspicuously as matinee idols on the curb and discuss something that amuses them tremendously. They slap each other on the back man-fashion, light cigarettes and move away.

Then there are those youths with fuzz on their jaws trimmed pointedly who wear the wide black hats of Boulevard St. Michel. They call each other Rene, Pierre and Andre, punctuate their talk with frequent "Vollas" and "Alors" and eagerly await the monthly check from self-sacrificing parents in Twin Oaks, Neb.

It is but fair to say all this is the "wide show." Hundreds of young men and women are toiling earnestly in the attics and art schools to furnish the world with greater artistic beauty. But they are rarely seen around the Dome.

THE King and Queen of Afghanistan are in Paris and native flags of their country fly from every building. Noth'ng so thrills Paris as a touch of royalty. Aside from reviving flattering monarchial hopes, it gives the town another excuse for a holiday. I have been here 10 days and there have been four fetes with all stores and public buildings closed. A Paris reporter invited me to one of the public receptions but I don't speak Afghanese.

MY WIFE just sacrificed a thumbnail in a French window. I had a feeling that would happen. From now on I intend to sneak up on them wearing boxing gloves.

THE law against raising rents in Paris ends shortly and then it is predicted rent prices will be no different from New York. No more $50 a year apartments.

MY FAVORITE street is rue Mouffetarde which seems to be hiding its mean shabbiness back of the Pantheon. Lisle Bell discovered it on a Sunday morning stroll several years ago and ran all the way our to Avenue Henri Martin to tell me and I notice it figures in a recent novel by Robert Service. If a street can scowl, it does. It is just wide enough for a single taxicab and is solid with low drinking dens. Here one sees the picturesque Apache with his fancy muffler and long visored cap. And women with matted hair and blood-shot eyes so stewed in vice they appear bestial. It slopes down to a market which collects jabbering housewives who bargain in sous like chattering parrots. Residents of Mouffetarde eat horse meat and live in this squalid world of their own and seldom leave it. The air is fetid with stale wine and decaying vegetables. In upstairs hovels live many "sewer rats" of Paris who do not smell so sweet either.

PARIS "sniffles" through the winter. The clinging damp seems to create a collective and continuous head cold and nobody cares

INSECTS DO GREAT DAMAGE TO TREES

By DR. FRANK CRANE

IN a pamphlet called The Forest Primer, issued by the American Tree Association, are some interesting statistics about one of man's greatest enemies.

It appears that there are some two hundred thousand kinds of tree-attacking insects and that these little insects cause far greater losses to forests than do fires.

If unhindered these insects would destroy thousands of acres of valuable forests a year.

In one section of Oregon these pests have destroyed enough trees to build eight thousand homes at $10,000 each.

Birds are one of the best preventives of insects. In a way they are our best friends. Some insects prey upon others, thus protecting the trees.

But man must be constantly vigilant. He must fight the pine beetles, borers, timber worms. Bark beetles attack the trees of the Adirondacks.

The larch is the victim of the saw-fly worm. The pine beetle is well at the top of the list of insect enemies.

In addition to this trees have diseases, although their powers of resistance to disease are greater than their resistance to insects.

Dr. L. O. Howard says that if man does not succeed in combating insects they will destroy man.

One of the greatest insect enemies is the termite or white ant. It penetrates the wood of floors, walls and foundations. Hence we must not only fight to save the lumber, but to save the buildings.

There must be no let-up in the fight against insects.

We must either pay out more money to protect the forests or pay ever-increasing prices for lumber, and in the end see the forests disappear.

Much has been done in forestry in the last five decades, but much remains to be done, and the care of the trees should be taught in every public school.

Who can fully describe the benefits of the tree? It is not only a thing of beauty that enhances the landscape, but it is useful. We get from it the material for our houses, for many of our utensils, and for many other useful things.

Charles Lathrop Pack, who has devoted his life to the trees, and spent much money at this work, deserves great credit.

Every town ought to have a municipal forest in its environments and ought to do something for the trees of the country.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By ELSIE ROBINSON

I SHALL never forget my first Cowboy Mash. I learned a lot from that gentleman.

I had looked with favor before upon the shining lights of other romantic professions—brakemen, prospectors, faro dealers, hoboes and claim diggers. I had even heaved a few sighs over a traveling evangelist and the local undertaker. But they all went into the diward when my Cowboy came along.

ZOW—EE! THAT KID WAS GORGEOUS!

He sat his broncho like a conquering Roman.

As a matter of fact I've never seen a Roman conquering anything but a platter of spaghetti, but if there's anything to that Caesar stuff, that's the way a conquering Roman ought to look.

His eyes flashed fire.

So did his shirt.

It had purple and green checks, with a pink and orange handkerchief to relieve the monotony. The effect was actually incandescent. As a final touch he had dyed his chaps an enthusiastic blue.

One look at that costume must have robbed branding time of all its horrors for the calves. They were probably unconscious when dragged to the iron.

However, it but fanned the flames of love more fiercely in my heart—which was ever an easy flamer, I was ready to leap upon his saddle and flee with him into any old wilderness.

But just then—

He climbed down from his horse—And my romance went blooey!

FOR MY HERO WAS BOW-LEGGED!

I did not stop to consider that any real, 100 per cent cowboy must of necessity be bowlegged. I did not pause to reflect that he might have a Beautiful Soul even if his knee joints were a little warped. I just gave one agonized look and vowed that I was off Romance for life!

But I wasn't.

Not at all.

I'm still going strong—that is, as strong as possible, age and heft considered.

And I think that my romantic ratio has probably been considerably helped by that youthful experience in disillusion.

IN THAT ONE MOMENT I LEARNED THAT A HUMAN CAN HAVE FLASHING EYES AT ONE END OF HIM, AND BOWLEGS (OR THEIR EQUIVALENT) AT THE OTHER.

I also learned a great and saving lesson in humility.

For if all other people were bowlegged despite their seeming grandeur, was it not possible that I, too, was a little spraing in my spiritual joints? It was. I am. Which is why I have a great and tender understanding of all bowlegged souls.

WORDS OF THE WISE MEN

The dews of the evening most carefully shun;
Those tears o' the sky for the loss of the sun. —Coleridge.

Patience provoked often turns to fury. —Syrus.

In our amusements a certain limit is to be placed that we may devote ourselves to a life of pleasure and thence fall into immortality. —Cicero.

He that is proud of the rustling of his silks, like a madman, laughs at the rattling of his fetters. For indeed, clothes ought to be our remembrances of our lost innocence. —Fuller.

Cartooning Mussolini

Beneath this picture the German paper prints this: "He must keep the world breathless so that he may breathe."

That isn't an exact description. Mussolini keeps the world breathless by his very nature. And he does it so that ITALY MAY BREATHE.

He found the Italians suffering from the effects of the war, and from extremely ungrateful treatment by their Allies in the war.

Had not Italy remained neutral at the beginning, protecting the French frontier on the southeast, and had not Italy entered the war at the critical moment, first enabling the French to win the Battle of the Marne, and then holding the power of Austria in check, there is little doubt that Germany would have won the war.

Italy got small thanks, and mean, niggardly, ungrateful treatment in the great despolation meeting at Versailles.

Then appeared Mussolini, formerly radical, Socialist, jailed for his attacks on autocratic power or even the appearance of it. He began loosing his lightnings. HE BECAME THE AUTOCRAT, the one and only power. He took into his service the genius of d'Annunzio and the enthusiasm of young Italy.

He started the thunderstorm of powerful personality just about the time that chaos and an imitation of Bolshevism were about to seize on Italy.

The thunderstorm has continued ever since, the Mussolini lightnings are apparently unlimited.

Italy's money is on a gold basis, Italy is at work, and whatever else it may say history will have to say that Mussolini is the man of extraordinary power, courage and terrific will.
